BATTLES RAGING IN BELFAST

Many Persons Are Shot Down in the Streets

TORCH APPLIED TO HOMES

Deadly Firing Pours From Windows and Roofs

BELFAST — (By Associated Press) — Street fighting, which has been in progress since yesterday, became particularly violent after one o'clock today, the dinner hour at ninety factories in the side streets radiating from Duncairn Gardens and North Queens-st.

One laborer was shot dead, and several others persons were wounded, including one army sergeant. Civilians placed sandbags in the middle of the streets and maintained heavy firing against the police and military who were forced to abandon the streets. Armored cars were surrounded. At one time the pattern of bullets resembled a hail storm.

HOUSES FIRED

Last night's rioting, when two persons were killed and several injured was the most serious the city has experienced for some time. The police and military were engaged throughout the night in subduing gunmen and snipers who were operating from windows and roofs, and who continued their fusillade until after midnight. Street lamps were extinguished and the only light came from burning houses to which the mob had set fire.

The rioting continued throughout the afternoon and resulted in the death of two more persons. William Kennedy was shot dead in Earl Street and Annie Watson, a 15-year old girl, got into the line of fire in North Queen street and was shot dead. Forty-eight persons were wounded in the rioting were taken to hospitals.

BORAH FROWNS ON HARDING'S BID

Refuses Invitation to Become One of Administration Leaders

WASHINGTON — (By United Press) — President Harding has invited Senator Borah of Idaho, to become one of the administration leaders in the senate.

Borah has declined the invitation. Senator Lodge is the elected leader of the Republicans in the senate and is inviting Borah to become one of that group, known as "administration leaders." Harding intended a slap at Lodge. He had intended, however, to get Borah, the most independent and influential of the progressive group, to supplement Lodge's efforts to the end that there might be more complete harmony of action within G. O. P. ranks.

The invitation to Borah was intended to swing him and the entire progressive group into line. Borah, however, made it plain that while he and other progressives have the mildest feelings toward President Harding and wish to help him, they have their independence. It was Borah's independence of his own party's leadership which made him so effective in the fight against the age of nations.

Harding has been assured that the progressives are not out to knife him in his administration. At the same time, it has been made clear to him that they differ with him on some points and that they intend to vote in the senate as they feel, not as the party dictates.

OIL MEETING HELD

Americans Silent on Conference in Mexico City

MEXICO CITY — (By Associated Press) — Government officials and executive heads of American oil companies who conferred yesterday relative to petroleum problems are reported to be silent on the subjects discussed at the first meeting held late yesterday afternoon. In interviews with the local newspaper men the oil men confined their remarks to praise of the delightful climate of Mexico City and their desire for an amicable adjustment of all questions now pending.

W. C. Teague, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, and Harry F. Sinclair, head of the Sinclair Oil Company, said it was not advisable to make a statement of any nature at the present moment, and with the exception of denying widely circulated rumors that the conferences had been held off because the petroleum companies had not paid the July oil taxes, had nothing to say for publication.

It is understood that the oil executives brought a personal letter from President Harding to President Obregon, but that it was merely of introduction, and was not official.

PEACE SIGNED AS WAR BREAKS

Hungary Forms Treaty With U. S., Faces Civil Conflict

VICTORY SCORED BY REBELS

Germany Under Rules Close Akin to Martial Law

BUDAPEST — (By Associated Press) — The treaty of peace between the United States and Hungary was signed here yesterday afternoon by Foreign Minister Bantfy and Grant Smith, United States commissioner here.

The peace treaty brings to an end the technical state of war between the United States and the countries formerly constituting the central empires of Europe. On Wednesday last a treaty was signed in Vienna by representatives of the United States and Austria and the following day a peace convention was executed in Berlin between the United States and Germany.

HUNGARY AT WAR

VIENNA — (By Associated Press) — Burgenland, a narrow strip of territory situated along the Hungarian border, which was awarded Austria by the treaty of St. Germain, is apparently in possession of Hungarian insurgents, with Lieutenant Hejjas enacting the role of Adalbert Korfanty in Upper Silesia or Captain Gabriele D'Annunzio in Fiume. The government is not receiving any news from the district, where on Sunday night irregular Hungarian forces attacked Austrian gendarmes sent to occupy the district late yesterday by President Ebert. However, reports from the town of Mattersdorf that he narrowly escaped being killed in Odenburg.

There are unconfirmed reports that one allied officer has been killed or wounded in the fighting in Burgenland.

Lieutenant Hejjas is reported to have posted placards throughout the district calling to the colors all men under 45 years of age. It is also said that 3,000 Hungarian regular troops have arrived and are encamped near Odenburg. A detachment of 200 Austrian gendarmes is reported surrounded at Geresdorf.

TROUBLE IN GERMANY

BERLIN — (By Associated Press) — Germany was today under restrictions closely approaching martial law, as a result of a decree issued late yesterday by President Ebert. Meetings, processions, demonstrations and the issuance of publications "likely to encourage seditious movements" were forbidden in the decree, and warning was given that "any and every insurrection" would be suppressed with relentless severity.

Majority and Independent Socialists have made formal demand upon Chancellor Wirth that elements responsible for anti-republican activities be restrained by the government and organized labor has informed the chancellor that it is prepared to "defend the republic."

The decree issued by the president became effective upon publication, and its execution has been placed in the hands of the ministry of the interior.

LABOR FEDERATION TO OPEN MEMBER CAMPAIGN

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. — A campaign of the American Federation of Labor for a membership of 5,000,000 will be launched on Labor Day, the federation's executive council announced today.

President Samuel Gompers had issued an appeal to labor throughout the country to rally on Labor Day to public gatherings for inspiring public addresses and distribution of literature of our movement.

"The time has come for labor to assume the aggressive," said his appeal. "We have held the line. Our positions are intact. It is the hour for a great forward movement. Set labor day as the day upon which we cease holding the line and begin to move forward in a great resistless wave."

BEAUTY CONTEST FOE CHASED

Congressman Threatened by Father and Husband

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

May Seek Revenge Thru United States Court

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The "strange case of the law" today threatened to involve the anti-beauty contest activities of Manuel Herrick, Oklahoma farmer congressman.

Failing in a lively attempt to get "personal satisfaction" from Herrick, the irate husband of an entrant in a local beauty contest, and the angry father of another, were prepared today to place serious charges against the arch foe of beauty contests before the district attorney.

The indignant pair — John O'Brien, the bridegroom, S. C. Harbaugh, the aged father — accused Herrick of signing the names of the beauties to letters apologizing to him for turning over to the postal authorities "deceitful love letters" he had sent the young women.

CONGRESSMAN FIRES

"I'm going to see the district attorney and have Herrick indicted for forgery if I can," declared Harbaugh.

"I'm going to try to get hold of the letter Herrick claims my daughter signed. That man ought not to be in congress."

Herrick today refused to comment on the two encounters with the enraged husband and father. Witnesses assert he added a springing record and a rough and tumble fighting championship to his laurels.

O'Brien, a husky machinist, entered Herrick's office in the house and demanded Herrick's signature on the dotted line.

According to O'Brien, Herrick "stalled," grabbed his hat and fled down the corridor with the bridegroom in hot pursuit. Reaching the street, Herrick leaped aboard a passing street car.

Baffled for a moment as the car doors closed behind the panting congressman, O'Brien says he chased the car for a block, overtook it and clambered aboard. Standing over the unhappy beauty contest foe, O'Brien demanded Herrick's signature. Herrick pleaded for time. To escape the curious eyes, O'Brien consented to call later and fix it up.

ALLIANCE FORMED

Forming an alliance with Harbaugh, O'Brien again called at Herrick's office. They gained entrance by a ruse, saying that they had some literature for his constituents. As they entered, witnesses assert, Herrick dashed for the door. O'Brien collared him, but the legislator shook him off. Harbaugh is alleged to have missed a swing at Herrick's head with an umbrella. Herrick finally hung an office sign on the head of the enraged machinist and escaped to the corridor, yelling for the police.

Closely followed by his foe, Herrick plunged into the office of Dan A. Sutherland, delegate from Alaska. The Alaskan put his bulk between charging O'Brien and the congressman. While Sutherland tried to pacify the machinist, Henry Elliott, an Alaskan visitor, asserted Herrick put his head out of the window and "yelled like a Comanche Indian for the police."

WOMAN KILLED; 3 MEN INJURED

Auto Crushed by Locomotive on Delphos Crossing

MRS. OSCAR MUSSER DIES

Fatal Ending of Pleasure Ride by Party of Four

DELPHOS, (Special) — Mrs. Oscar Musser, 30, was killed here at 6:30 p. m. Monday, when a Clover Leaf switching locomotive run down and crushed an auto, at the Canal-st crossing, west side of the canal.

The woman's husband, a laborer, Charles Krebs, a bartender and Everett Sowers, a laborer, were in the auto. They were seriously but not fatally injured.

The car was being driven by Krebs, the party enjoying a ride about the city at the close of an unusually warm day. When the party approached the T. St. L. & W. Railroad crossing they failed to notice that a switch engine was shunting cars onto a sidetrack.

MADE EFFORT TO ESCAPE

Gratuitous effort on the part of the occupants of the car to escape being run down was unavailing. Mrs. Musser was killed when the auto was crushed and hauled from the track. Hurts sustained by Musser, Sowers and Krebs are serious, it is reported, but not necessarily fatal.

Mrs. Musser is the mother of two children, aged 10 and 12. Before her marriage she was Elizabeth Fulton, daughter of Robert Fulton, of this city.

P. F. Dugan, the engineer in charge of the locomotive, stated Monday night after the accident, that a switchman was at the crossing and signaled to Krebs to stop the auto, but that the driver either did not see the warning motion made by the switchman, or ignored it.

SKULL FRACTURED

Mrs. Musser was killed as she was endeavoring to climb out of the tonneau of the auto, the switching locomotive crushing the car before the occupants could escape. A fracture of the skull at the base of the brain was received by Mrs. Musser.

Dr. Keyser, Van Wert co. coroner, conducted an inquest Tuesday morning, to inquire into the exact cause of the fatal accident.

U. S. STARTS KU KLUX PROBE

District Attorney Threatens to Blow the Lid Off

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Federal investigation of the Ku Klux Klan has been started in Chicago by John V. Cline, assistant United States district attorney, he announced today.

Numerous complaints have been coming to his office since the organization of a branch of the Klan here three weeks ago. Colonel Cline said. Allegations that the Klan is opposed to public policy, that it makes no accounting of the money it collects, that it makes a profit on its regalia and therefore is a corporation operating for profit, and that lawless acts have been ascribed to persons acting in the guise of the Klan, will form the basis of the investigation, according to Colonel Cline.

"I don't wish, as yet, to cast any reflection upon the organization of its leadership—but if I find anything wrong I'll blow the lid off," Colonel Cline said.

He said he had not yet decided whether he would question Colonel William Joseph Simmons of Atlanta, Ga., acknowledged head of the organization.

WAGE CONFERENCE HELD

CLEVELAND — The wage committee of the National Window Glass Workers' Association met with a similar committee of the Manufacturers here today in an effort to reach an agreement over a new wage contract. An offer of a reduction of 28 per cent less than last year, made by the manufacturers during conference at Pittsburgh last week, was rejected by the union at a meeting here. The men are willing to accept a 25 per cent reduction, Joseph Newman, president of the union declared.

KOREAN LEADER TO ASK INDEPENDENCE

Dr. Syngman Rhee.

"The cry of Korea for independence, stifled at Versailles by Japanese diplomacy, will be heard at the disarmament conference," said Dr. Syngman Rhee, former president of the Republic of Korea, on his arrival last week in San Francisco, where he hopes to be admitted as a delegate to the Washington conference.

The president and Secretary Weeks after hearing a delegation from West Virginia, headed by Senator Sutherland, who urged that Governor Morgan's request for federal troops be granted, called into conference Major General Harbord, chief of staff, and Brigadier General Bandholtz, who recently visited the coal fields as the war department's representative.

FRENCH BRANDED FINANCIAL NUT

Worthington Hits at Associate in Alleged Swindle

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — Charles W. French, alleged head of a $50,000,000 "swindle trust," today was characterized as "a financial nut" who wouldn't know a good promissory note if he saw one," by John W. Worthington who has indicated that he may tell the government what he knows of French's operations.

Worthington said he had handled the "master mind" of a band of mail and bank robbers, whose operations they believe were related to those of French, yesterday asked permission to appear in court when French is arraigned.

Worthington said he had handled $20,000 worth of notes for Z. W. Davis, of Canton, at French's request, but said he turned down a proposition to float a $20,000 loan for the American Rubber company, one of French's concerns.

"French isn't a banker," Worthington asserted. "I don't think he can tell a good promissory note when he sees one. I don't know whether his transactions are good or bad, but if he has dabbled in things the way he is charged, he's no financier. He's a nut."

Worthington asserted that all his transactions had been regular and that if he had handled stolen bonds, he was not aware of it. "They've made a mountain out of a mole hill," he said.

Two Regiments Ready to Move at Moment's Notice

SITUATION DECLARED GRAVE

West Virginia Likened to Belgium in World Conflict

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (By Associated Press) — Between 2,000 and 3,000 armed men have assembled at Jeffery, in Boone-co., close to the Logan-co. line, according to official advices received here today. They are within easy striking distance of the disturbed section of Logan-co., where four men were killed in a fight with state troops and deputy sheriffs Sunday morning.

The authorities have also been informed that some 75 automobiles carrying armed men dashed out of the Cabin Creek valley near here this morning and passing thru Marmet, continued up the Lous Creek valley along the line taken by the men who set out to march to Mingo-co. last week.

HARDING TAKES HAND

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The sending of federal troops in West Virginia coal regions to restore order entered the realm of probability today when military officers of the army were called into conference by President Harding to consider that question.

Decision as to whether federal troops would be sent to West Virginia, however, will await a conference to be held at the White House late this afternoon.

The president and Secretary Weeks after hearing a delegation from West Virginia, headed by Senator Sutherland, who urged that Governor Morgan's request for federal troops be granted, called into conference Major General Harbord, chief of staff, and Brigadier General Bandholtz, who recently visited the coal fields as the war department's representative.

READY TO MOVE

There was no intimation as to the attitude of the president, but war department officials said only the word from President Harding was necessary for them to begin movement of troops into the West Virginia fields. Plans have been made for the movement, by the general staff and it was said in the event it was ordered, it would probably involve two regiments, already prepared and awaiting orders to move.

One of the regiments was said to be the nineteenth infantry located at Camp Sherman, Ohio, and Columbus barracks. The other is at Camp Dix, N. J.

The announcement that the final decision as to dispatch of troops would await an afternoon conference was made by Secretary Weeks after he had spent two hours with the president. It is understood that the delay in reaching a decision was due to a desire to obtain additional information from the scene of the disturbance.

TO RESUME PARLEY

General Bandholtz and Secretary Weeks were asked to return to the White House and it was expected that certain information which would have a direct bearing on the question of proclaiming martial law or dispatching troops would be available in time for consideration at the conference.

Senator Sutherland, on leaving the White House, said the question the president was considering was whether the state had exhausted every effort to restore order. The senator contended, however, that the paramount issue was the preservation of law and order, regardless of what the state might have done in that direction.

CHARLESTON, W. Va. — (By Associated Press) — Today is one of uncertainty as to what is happening along the Logan-Boone co. line. Latest reports were a repetition of yesterday's, no more assuring, no less alarming.

Adjutant General Charnock was back in the capital after a hurried trip to the district. The word picture he painted of the situation in a formal statement was likened to a canvas depicting a storm-tossed sea. So alarming was it that Governor E. F. Morgan sent an appeal to President Harding requesting immediate aid.

In his request, addressed to the executive and Secretary of War Weeks, the governor quoted the adjutant general as reporting that during the trip he commanded armed bands to disperse, but that they refused to do so and continued to maintain patrols on the roads along the boundary line of the two counties.

Chesapeake and Ohio railroad trains have been commandeered to transport contingents to armed camps and telephone wires have been cut and steps taken to prevent re-establishment of communication. The governor said his emissary had informed him.

Efforts to communicate by telephone with Blair and Sharples have been unsuccessful for several days. Adjutant General Charnock's companion on the mission, A. C. Porter, United Mine Workers' executive board member, returned to Charleston with the state official. He too, gave a gloomy account of conditions. His starting report to C. E. Keene, president of district 17,

United Mine Workers of America, follows:

STARTLING REPORT

"With all males from the ages of 14 to 80 under arms, women and children fleeing in panic over the line into Boone-co, armed patrols arriving and departing and a constant conveyance of supplies to the picket posts in the hills, the Sharpley-Blair sector may well be compared with Belgium in the early days of the world war."

On the northern side of the mountain which serves as a watershed to both Coal and Guyandotte rivers, lies the camp and main force of the miners. Similarly situated on the southern side are the Logan-co deputies and the state police. The miners have advanced picket lines in the hills.

Could these men clash it would draw into battle a total of 2,500 men. Along the tops there are trenches and breastworks of rocks and felled trees."

THREE DIE IN BATTLE

The Kanawha Coal Operators' Association statement that the three men killed in the engagement near Sharpley between state troopers and deputy sheriffs and a band of armed men, had been identified as William L. Greer, of Matewan and Cecil Clark and W. M. Morrison, of Sharples, was borne out by the reports of Adjutant General Charnock and Mr. Porter, Clark's father is said to live at Catlettsburg, Ky. A fourth casualty, George May, received a slight wound.

According to Mr. Porter, several men at Sharpley told him their stories of the fight. All agreed, he added. None of the men could say whether the troopers and deputies suffered any losses.

After the battle, Mr. Porter said his informants told him, all the men in the vicinity are taking themselves and their boys to the hills, with arms at their fathers' sides. That had been withdrawn from the mountains lying toward Logan were again thrown out.

Mr. Porter said the men told him that Magistrate Fulton Mitchell, his brother, and two others, John Browning and Will White, are held prisoners and will not be surrendered, but that they would be exchanged for captive miners at the rate of one captive deputy for ten miners.

CITIZENS ARMED

LOGAN, W. Va. (By Associated Press) — More than a thousand men, made up of two companies of the state police, a host of deputy sheriffs and the constant armed volunteers from all over Logan county, were ready, their leaders said today, for any emergency growing out of the fight last Sunday morning between state troopers and a band of armed men on the east slope of Spruce Fork Ridge, east of here.

Captain J. R. Brockus with the troopers and a large force of Logan and McDowell county deputy sheriffs were out along the Coal River looking the towns of Clothier, Blair and Sharples. In Logan itself scores of armed men spent their time in the vicinity of the court house awaiting orders from Sheriff Don Chaffin of Logan county and Sheriff Bill Hatfield, of McDowell. A fleet of automobiles was parked nearby with a driver at every steering wheel ready for instant use. More than a thousand former service men, many of whom had seen service overseas, were being formed into an emergency organization should they be needed to repel an attack from the hundreds of armed men who were currently reported to have gathered between the Ridge and the western boundary of Boone county.

Reports from Captain Brockus patrol to the sheriff's office said the early hours of the day had been quiet but there was a great deal of restlessness in the Coal River field and many men had gathered there. Rumors flew thick and fast during the morning, one which attracted unusual attention being to the effect that some four hundred labor leaders had reached Charleston and were calling on the men who took part in the march last week from Marmet to Madison. Sheriff Chaffin and Sheriff Hatfield had the report but said they would do nothing until it had been confirmed, as they were confident that the border patrol was strong enough to handle the immediate situation.

At Sheriff Chaffin's office no word had been received of the release of the deputy sheriffs captured by a band near the Boone county line Sunday, although the sheriff added, Governor Morgan had intimated to him that he would seek to have the men set at liberty.

CAPTIVES SOUGHT

MADISON, W. Va. — Sheriff John H. Hill, of Boone-co, left here today for a point on the Boone-Logan line near Sharples where, it was said, Magistrate Mitchell and three Logan-co deputy sheriffs were being held captive by the armed men into whose hands they fell on Sunday. It was the intention of Sheriff Hill, his office reported to locate the captives and if possible effect their release.

While there was no direct news here today from the disturbed section across the border in Logan-co, the gravest fears were felt. More than 150 armed men passed thru here this morning on a train bound for that region, the last of scores who have gone there since Sunday morning. No estimate of the forces assembled at the foot of Spruce Fork Ridge was made, but persons who have closely followed the situation expressed the opinion that it had been increased to more than a thousand within the past few days.

Boone-co, according to the authorities was quiet, no disturbance being reported from any part. There are no deputy sheriffs here except the few men who assist Sheriff Hill in the routine work of his office.

BRIBERY IS DENIED BY MAYOR

Newark Executive Given Hearing Before Governor Davis

TESTIFIES IN OWN BEHALF

Prosecution to Put Alleged Gamblers on Stand

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Denial of charges made against him by the Licking-co Law Enforcement League involving allegations that he had accepted bribes from Newark gamblers, was made by Mayor Herbert Atherton of Newark, at a hearing before Governor Davis here today. Atherton was recently suspended by Governor Davis until the charges made against him could be investigated.

Atherton, who was the first witness at the hearing, testified that he had been informed of the charges by Mayor Charles W. Montgomery, a Republican leader, and was given the alternative of resigning and withdrawing from the primaries as a candidate for re-election, or having the charges filed with the governor.

ATTORNEYS OF LEGAL TALENT — Attorneys Joseph E. McGhee, of Columbus, and Link C. Russell, of Newark, represented Atherton. The prosecution was conducted by Judge E. E. Corn, counsel for the state utilities commission, representing the governor. Attorney Phil B. Smythe and E. T. Johnson of Newark, represented the Licking-co Law Enforcement League, whose president, Charles O'Bannon, also attended the hearing.

Attempts to show that Atherton made no particular effort to discover evidence of gambling at Newark, directing particular inquiry as to why Robert A. White had been arrested only once for gambling, when Attorney Smythe averred, the mayor had known that White ran a gambling house.

MAYOR'S CLAIMS

Atherton declared that he had instructed the safety director and chief of police to keep close watch on alleged gambling operations, but that the activities of gamblers were sporadic and their efforts to get evidence was not always successful.

Because of the small police force, he said, he was unable to put any officers on the special work of uncovering gambling activities. Altogether, he said, council had refused authority to appoint special detectives to remedy the liquor situation in Newark after there had been criticism from State Probation Director Don V. Parker.

The prosecution today stated it intended to put on the stand four alleged gamblers who have made affidavits against Atherton. They are:

Robert A. White, Jean Schlegel, X. Howard Rathbun and Lawrence Pfeiffer.

A large delegation from Newark came to Columbus to attend the hearing.

COUNTRY STORE IDEA TO PREVENT IN FETE

AT ST. RITA HOSPITAL

An old-fashioned country store, where everything is sold, will be a feature of the lawn fete to be given by St. Rita's hospital patrons on the lawn surrounding the hospital and nurse's home, Thursday evening.

The lawn party is the result of united efforts of patrons in the city and adjoining towns, who have enjoyed its wonderful facilities or have been attracted to the institution by courtesies extended to friends. The lay board of the hospital, headed by A. W. Wheatley and St. Rita's Hospital Guild, composed of women of every religious faith in Lima, are fostering the party.

The program will begin at 7:30 p. m. when strains of a delightful orchestra will announce the fete is on. The cooling ices and drinks will be served in beautifully-illuminated surroundings. With the sky and trees for a background.

Funds secured will be used to carry on the work of the hospital. Cakes and cream are being donated for the party.

KIWANIANS FEAST AT STATE HOSPITAL

The tour thru the institution embraced every part of the building.

TREATY GOES TO SENATE SEPT. 21

Harding Hopes for Quick Ratification of German Pact

WASHINGTON — (By Associated Press) — The treaty of peace with Germany which was signed last Thursday at Berlin will be sent to the senate September 21, the day that congress reassembles after its thirty day recess, it was stated today at the White House.

Prompt ratification of the pact is understood to be hoped for by President Harding. While the senate legislative program as outlined at the time last week's recess was taken called for enactment of revenue or tariff legislation immediately upon reassembling and then for action on the railroad debt funding bill, several senate leaders expressed the belief today that an early place could be found on the program for the treaty.

Members of the foreign relations committee, to which the treaty will be referred upon its submission, were made acquainted with its details last week by Secretary Hughes and this fact, together with the opportunity afforded for study during the recess, is counted upon in administration quarters to work for speedy action.

Statements have been made by administration officials that it was desired that the senate and German reichstag consider the treaty simultaneously. The German legislative body is scheduled to meet September 27, five days after the senate resumes its sessions and about time senate leaders expect the treaty to be recommended by the foreign relations committee.

NEVADA SENATOR ONCE COWBOY

Former Miner Now Fashionably Attired Solon

HAD HARD LIFE AS BOY

Thrilling Story Of Mining Struggles In West

(By J. Bart Campbell)

WASHINGTON — (By International News Service) — A tall, angular, bald-headed, pink-cheeked, youthful looking man sits erect at his desk in one corner of the Senate chamber. He is immaculately attired in garments of a fashionable cut. He seldom utters a syllable in a body where speech-making is the rule and silence the exception. Pincus is a carefully balanced and well-mannered man. His collar and tie—perfection.

"Who's the dude," queries one of the irreverent in the galleries. "Looks as tho he had a flock of vallets, and belonged to the 'Millionaire's Club'."

The "dude" chances to be Tasker Lovett, Oddie, the new Republican Senator from Nevada, ex-cow puncher and ex-gold miner who underwent all sorts of hardships and privations and toiled long in a hard-fisted practical way before good fortune slipped him into the "soft snap" of a Senatorial seat.

BORN IN BROOKLYN — Oddie was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., October 24, 1870, and spending his early boyhood at East Orange, N. J. He roughed it on a ranch in Nebraska from sixteen to nineteen and then sought a business career in New York City. In 1898 he went to Nevada to identify himself with the extensive Stokes mining interests, but he worked himself out of there by exposing irregularities in connection with them, and he then hit the trail into an almost inaccessible, sparsely inhabited, mountainous region of the southern part of the state.

Oddie finally drifted south into Nye-co, in the region of old Belmont, the former grandeur of which had departed, and took up mining on his own account. At that time, in 1898, the entire population of the county did not exceed two hundred souls, most of whom were engaged in raising live-stock. He took up some claims and sank a shaft, working alone, with such tools as he could gather. The shaft was an incline, seventy feet deep, equipped with a windlass. He hoisted his bucket, climb up and hoist it to the surface.

Nothing much of a material nature resulted from these operations. The streak of ore was small and the work came to an abrupt end when a "raise" broke thru to the surface, marking the end of the "bonanza" day. Oddie was acquainted with a man, Jim Butler, who was to play an important part in his life. Butler had little to do and less pay, in which Oddie succeeded him — a rancher in a small way, and a prospector of the old school with that gift that made the old-timers rich. Butler had some samples from the find to Klondike, a nearby camp, and shown them to Wilse Brougher and his partner, Higgs, who had an office there. Higgs threw them aside as not being worth an assay. Butler, who was "broke" proposed that Oddie have the samples assayed. "If the stuff is any good, I'll put you in on the locations," quoth Butler. Oddie was in the same financial condition as Butler, but he had in Austin, a friend, W. C. Gayheart, an assayer. Butler went to Gayheart, and a letter to Gayheart he repeated Butler's offer and proposed to put Gayheart in on his interest should the assays show values worth while.

FOUND THE GREAT MIZPAH MINE — There were eight samples in the lot and in due time the certificate came. The lowest ran $60 per ton in silver, the highest $800. They were from an outcrop on what later became known to the mining world as the Mizpah mine, in the great silver camp of Tonopah, then a barren waste in a little frequented part of Nye-co.

Butler in the meantime, had gone to his ranch. Oddie sent the assay certificate and urged him to make haste to Belmont and go with Oddie to the scene and make his locations. Butler's ranch was on a Star Route post office but he made infrequent trips to the mail box down on the road. The days rolled by and merged into weeks, with no reply. Oddie greatly feared that some wandering prospector would find the ledge and locate it, while waiting to hear from Butler. Finally Butler, overjoyed by the assays, arrived with his wife in Belmont and the two slipped away with camp equipment loaded upon a rickety wagon in which they made their fifty-mile journey. On Butler's return he took Wilse Brougher into the partnership for the scene of the discovery where they put up their claim monuments and started to work. It was in November, the weather cold and blustery, their shelter the sky. They had no tent at the start, no stove and nothing but scrubby sagebrush for fuel. There was no food for the horses, which were turned out to rustle the dry grass and frequently strayed away.

Butler had to make a distance of five miles, Oddie being the youngest of the trio, to the extra jobs of rustling the horses, hauling water and gathering fuel, besides doing the heavy work of mining. The outcrop yielded two tons of ore and then "pinched" out. The men then started to level off a place for a windlass and in this work uncovered the top of the Mizpah.

INITIAL CAPITAL WAS $25 — They hauled the ore first extracted, one ton at a time, to Belmont, a long two-days' trip, from where it was sent ninety miles by wagon to Austin, thence by rail to a smelter on the Pacific Coast. It took six weeks to get returns, but the check that came for $600, cheered them in their task and supplied the funds for their further adventures. Their later successes never produced a sum that looked quite as big as that $600, which came on a stormy day to their dingy camp on a bleak hillside in a lonely corner of the world. It was almost dusk of a winter day when Oddie reached camp with the money, blue with cold but warmed within by the vision of the future. Dropping the reins to the ground, he left the tired horses standing and imparted the good news to his partners.

The combined money investment of these three men in this enterprise was $25. This is probably the world's record of big returns from small investments.

What followed is history. In the mysterious way that new spreads of a new strike in the desert reaches, it quickly became known that a great discovery had been made in Nevada. From everywhere came hardy spirits, covering the hillside with flapping tents and filling the air with the roar of dynamite from early morning until midnight. Leases were let for a hundred of them and a wealth of the Mizpah was sacked and sent to the smelters. Oddie was made business manager and kept his books for a hundred leases, split the money among freight haulers, lessees and the company and gave attention to a thousand details, including the railroad shipments to the marketing of ores, etc., all in an office the size of a piano box. Other mines were developed, a town was built and finally a railroad was constructed to connect with the Southern Pacific at Sodaville, sixty-five miles away.

THE MONOR SYSTEM USED — The conduct of the great business that sprang up around the Mizpah mine was unique. Butler had the lease from date of the lease until midnight of December 31, 1900. The boundaries were marked by piles of rock and determined by "stepping off," allowing three feet to the step, lessees being permitted to select the block of ground they desired to work. There was no paper title. Butler simply entered in a notebook the names of the lessees and the number of the lease, which he reported to Oddie. The same simplicity governed the handling of the ore and the money received in settlement therefor. Oddie handled all transactions and once a month or oftener, as money was available or needed, he distributed shares to the respective lessees. And that was a matter of note that a single dispute arose between the owners and lessees in these transactions involving several million dollars.

Stories of fabulously rich ore going shipped from Tonopah, the name bestowed upon the camp, were not long in reaching the adventures of the West and they flocked to the scene, a heterogeneous crowd of men and women, all looking for the main chance. There were merchant stores, rude "hotels," eating houses, saloons in great number and dance halls without limit. There was an unending procession of vehicles of all sorts across the sandy plain from Sodaville to Tonopah and the hundreds of ore teams from Tonopah to Sodaville. By day and night a mill of dust, ascended to the heavens marking the devious course of the trail. With the crowd came smooth-talking promoters, and ere the end of the Indian summer of 1900 the Mizpah mine was sold for $350,000.

The story of how Jim Butler found the mine has been widely told until it has become legendary. The accepted version is that he had camped nearby while enroute to Klondike. In the pursuit the following morning of his strayed and perverse burros he is said to have picked up a loose rock to hurl at them along with the customary anathemas, and that, attracted by its weight, he inspected it and found it to be pure "bunk," and says that Butler was a wonderfully sagacious prospector with an almost uncanny instinct for finding ore. He had noticed from afar indications of mineral on this range of hills years before and went there with the purpose of prospecting the valley with a very definite and fixed object in view.

GREATEST BOOM — SINCE COMSTOCK — Oddie was opposed to selling the mine, which had attained bonanza proportions, but acquiesced in the sale to the Mizpah Development and Mining Company, which had been formed in Philadelphia, the home of the new owners of the Belmont, an adjoining property, but remained as manager for the Tonopah Mining Corporation to which the Mizpah was sold. H. C. (Cal) Brougher and Oddie owned most of the locations that finally were taken over by the Tonopah Belmont Development & Mining Company, which had a score of new locations, the home of the new owners of the Mizpah mine. A great fault crosses the mountain between the two mines and some engineers expressed the belief that it "cut off" the ore. The Belmont subsequently became the largest mine of the district.

Tonopah gave birth to the greatest mining boom in Nevada since the glorious days of the Comstock, and has already produced more than a hundred million dollars. From the new Eldorado prospectors worked out in every direction. Rich gold ore was found twenty-five miles to the south and Goldfield was given to the mining world with its rich treasure trove. Then came Manhattan, Silver Bow, Renville, and a score of new camps. Oddie remained for five years as manager of the Tonopah Mining and the Belmont Development and operated in Goldfield and other camps where he had secured interests. He bought the Pina Cree ranch and introduced into Southern Nevada the first herd of white-faced or Hereford cattle. He has made a close study of agricultural and live stock matters.

In 1910 he was nominated for Governor on the Republican ticket and elected, serving four years. This was about the stiffest fight he ever had and was waged under difficulties that would have discouraged most men from making the race. To begin with, he was pitted against an experienced and popular politician, in a state that was normally Democratic. Financial reversion had practically swept away his fortune. Unskilled in politics and with a poor organization he went out and appealed to the voters.

A BATTLE FROM YOUTH — There followed some lean years in Nevada. The stock boom which swept the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to

CROSSING REPAIR IS PROMISED

B. & O. Superintendent Meets With Council Committee

SENTENCED TO DIE SEPT. 9

News in Brief Picked up from Ohio Cities

Repairs on the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad grade crossings on some of the principal streets of the city will be started within a few days, R. E. Mann, division superintendent told a committee of council Tuesday noon, at a conference held in the Safety building, E. High-st.

A gang of workmen will be sent here, he stated and it is the intention of the railroad company to grade the crossings and treat the surface with tarvia. This method has been tried with success at Dayton, Mann told council and is being followed by the railroad all along its lines.

Wooden crossings now on Market and other principal streets will be taken up and such material as can be used will be put down at less frequently traveled streets.

Superintendent Mann expressed the hope that the L. E. & W. which uses the crossings jointly with his road, will see fit to install the same sort of crossings.

After laying out details across the track on St. John-st., the committee was told that an ordinance might have to be passed, not to compel the road to proceed, but to justify the expenditure. The railroads of the country are just a jump ahead of the sheriff, Mann stated and appropriations for new material are hard to obtain.

STATE ORGANIZES TO BATTLE WHITE PLAGUE — COLUMBUS — Establishment in the department of health of a new bureau of tuberculosis which it is said, will make a thoro campaign against tuberculosis in Ohio's rural districts, was announced today by Governor Davis. Director Sully of the health department has appointed Dr. J. A. Frank, head of the bureau of venereal diseases, as head of the new bureau.

This paves the way, state officials say, for the first organized effort to carry the fight against the "white plague" into the rural districts of the state. The new bureau, Director Sully announced, will begin its activities by establishing in cooperation with local health authorities, tuberculosis clinics for rural sections, where organized effort to combat the disease has heretofore been lacking.

BRINGS SUIT FOR $1,074 ON NOTE — Judgment for $1,074 is asked in a suit filed in common pleas court by Edward E. Crouse against Charles E. Baldwin and wife and Alva Grubbs and wife. The petition says that Grubbs and his wife gave a note for that amount to the Baldwins and they assigned it to Crouse. Sale of lot 4, Sugar Grove addition to Lima, used as security on the note, is asked.

DUNLAPS OFFER TERMS TO THEIR CREDITORS — J. Wilbur and Howard Dunlap, bankrupt onion growers, Alger, offered a composition of 25 per cent in cash and 25 per cent in notes to their creditors, at a meeting held Monday in Kenon.

Dr. Grindol, referee in bankruptcy, announced that the offer will be considered at a date to be arranged, when creditors will be privileged to express their views in the matter.

Mexico had gone its way. The rich treasures of Goldfield were pretty well worked out after producing over a hundred million dollars. The price of silver was low and Tonopah was a silver mine in name only in consequence. But Oddie kept pegging away prospecting and developing prospects, his heart true to mining, his heart true to mining, his heart soon to be rewarded.

Probably the most striking feature of Oddie's life has been the strange fates against odds in the big undertakings. He studied law in New York at night for years, while working as a clerk for $10 a week, battling sleep in the pursuit of knowledge. He received his degree and was admitted to the New York Bar. His first experience in his business brought him into conflict with powerful real estate interests and his victory inspired Stokely to send him to Nevada, where he set up a veritable "nest" of enormous ventures, undaunted, he tackled mining, equipped only with "main strength and awkwardness," in a region where dollars were as scarce as hens' teeth, and finally, temporarily blinded in fortune, he entered the political arena and achieved victory, being elected Governor. Last year he again entered the lists, first for nomination, then for election as United States Senator. It may safely be assumed that the mining industry will have a staunch friend in the person of the new junior senator.

Senator Oddie is a Republican and the son of the late Henry Meigs and Ellen Gilson (Proudt) Oddie. His father was a native of New York and his mother a native of Ohio. He is the son of his mother, a direct descendant of Benjamin Tasker, the first governor of Maryland, a direct descendant of Major Benjamin Stoddert, the first Secretary of the Navy and a cousin of the late Lloyd Lowmides, former Governor of Maryland.

He was a member of the Nevada State Council of Defense during the late war, chairman of the Highway Transport Committee and War Industries Board of Nevada during the war, and was a member of the 10th Troop (cavalry) of New Jersey for several years prior to going to Nevada.

From 1901 to 1903 he was paid Attorney for Nye-co; from 1904 to 1908, State Senator and was Governor of Nevada from 1911 to 1915.

OTTOMAN EMPIRE THING OF PAST

Nationalist Government Springs
Out of Its Ruins

CHURCH, STATE SEPARATED

Present Foreign Minister Discusses Turkish Situation

ANGORA—(By Associated Press)—The Ottoman Empire is a thing of the past, and a new Nationalist government has sprung out of its ruins, says Youssef Kemal Bey, the present foreign minister who concluded the Turkish-Russian treaty.

"We Nationalists are different in our way of thinking and acting from the old-fashioned Turk of the story books," he went on. "We have adopted the open, straightforward method in politics. We say what we want and what we think."

"Our government is no longer of a religious character. Church and state have been definitely separated. Our house of representative is modeled on that of western countries. We discuss, we dispute just as elsewhere."

"For better or worse, old Turkey has gone. There was once a time when strangers couldn't travel without special police permission and protection among us, because of ancient religious prejudices against Christians. Today, anyone can travel safely without interference from the country people. Americans do it every day. This is one of several reasons why the old capitulations, to protect foreign Christian subjects are not needed."

"There is another error about us. We are suspected of adopting the Russian Soviet form of government. We have always been democratic as a people and will continue so. I trust. But there is no necessity for such division of property. The error arose because we have turned to Soviet Russia for aid in our present war."

"As for war with the Greeks, there can be no compromise. The Greek must go from our land."

COLUMBUS DAY CELEBRATED AT THE OHIO STATE FAIR

COLUMBUS—Columbus Day is being celebrated today at the Ohio State Fair which is being held here. Exhibitors from the whole city are vying with each other in their displays to win some of the many souvenirs.

The layout in the Columbus building is the largest in its history and the old building could be several times its size and then not be large enough to hold the exhibits.

The Manufacturers' and Jobbers' Association of the Chamber of Commerce. All Columbus noon-day organizations have been asked to lunch on the grounds.

Yesterday was ladies' day, the ladies being admitted free of charge and it swelled the opening day total to approximately 50,000, the largest in the history of the fair.

TRACKS OF WHEEL CHAIR LEAD TO GIRL'S CAPTURE

NEW YORK—Edna Townsend, 15 year old cripple girl, who ran away in a wheel chair from her home in Baltimore to see New York, went back home today with her father, John Townsend, of the United States coast guard service.

Tracks made by the wheel chair, which Edna propelled to the railroad station in Baltimore, put her father on the scent and with the aid of Baltimore police, arranged to have

New York police on the lookout when Edna arrived.

Evelyn Elliott, aged 14, who accompanied Edna on the runaway trip, also accompanied her and her father back to Baltimore.

WAPAK GIRL DOES AQUATIC STUNT

Louise Brokaw Swims More Than Mile in 35 Minutes

WAPAKONETA — (Special) — Miss Louise Brokaw, 15, daughter of Councilman W. H. Brokaw of this city, drew plaudits from hundreds of people at Russell Point, when she swam around the island on which is located the Bellefontaine club house, as the climax of a week's outing at the Indian Lake resort.

Miss Brokaw swam around three disconnected islands, more than 1-1/4 miles, in exactly 35 minutes and finished strong, none the worse for her experience. The girl adopted the side swimming stroke in performing the feat.

Mrs. A. A. Crawford of this city, was one of the members of the nominating committee, which completed the launching of the woman's auxiliary to the Ohio Building Association league at Cedar Point and took an active part in getting the auxiliary started. Mrs. Crawford's husband is secretary of the Wapakoneta Building and Savings company.

The case of Fred Houtz, deposed night policeman here, against the civil service commission and Safety Director Adrian Sert, appealed to common pleas court, was heard Monday by Judge F. C. Layton and taken under advisement. Houtz was dismissed from the force when the civil service commission sustained charges of incompetency. Houtz alleges fraud on the part of the commission.

A Ford coupe, owned by Conrad Kreitzer, east of the city, was destroyed by fire when a blaze was started by a short circuit, on the road near Unionopolis. Loss is $500.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the residence in New Hampshire, for Mrs. Clara Hoffman, 61, who died at the home of her aged mother, Mrs. Andrews. She is also survived by one daughter and three brothers.

MUFFLER OPEN, WRONG LICENSE TAG, LIGHTS OUT; MOTORISTS FINED

When residents in various portions of the city complained to the police that their slumbers were disturbed by joyriders racing cars in the streets with cut-outs open, officers were detailed to capture the noise-makers.

Thomas Manion, 21, of 521 Jefferson-st. and D. W. Bingham, 25, of 120 N. West-st., were taken in tow Monday night.

Tuesday, Manion was fined $10 on a charge of running a car without a muffler and Bingham, who was riding in the car but not driving, plead guilty to using the wrong license number on the car.

"You're the fellows that woke up my family twice running down Spring-st with no muffler," remarked Judge Jackson in criminal court.

"It'll cost you ten a-piece," driving without lights, cost Ray Kinsey, 215 1-2 E. North-st., a cook, $5.

WHY SENATOR NEW DOES NOT ENTHUSE OVER GOLF

MANCHESTER, N. H. — Senator Harry Stuart New was the strong anti-golf advocate of the presidential party on their recent visit to Lancaster, N. H. The famed Indiana gentleman sees nothing to enthuse over in the game. In reply to a question of a newspaper as to his opinion of golf, Senator New said: "I am not old enough, not fat enough, and I am too damn sociable to play any such damn game as golf. I like to play a game where you can smile at someone, and if I want to fight I get the proper weapons."

CHARLTON NAMED

Succeeds Kramer as Ohio Prison Physician

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Announcement of the appointment of Dr. Paul H. Charlton, of Columbus, to succeed Dr. O. M. Kramer as chief physician at the Ohio penitentiary, was announced today by Warden P. E. Thomas.

Dr. Kramer resigned late yesterday rather than be discharged, Warden Thomas announced, for failure to officiate at the electrocution early yesterday morning of Frank Motto, Cleveland murderer. The warden refused to state the complete reasons, but intimated he would if Dr. Kramer protests.

Dr. Charlton for seven years served as a medical officer in the Ohio national guard, two years overseas.

STEAM AIRSHIP IS WORKABLE, IS CLAIM

LONDON.—Driving an airship by steam is the very latest stunt evoked by a former expert of the Royal Air Force.

Captain W. P. Durnall, who was formerly Staff Captain in the Chief Mechanical and Electrical Engineers' Department of the Royal Air Force, claims to have figured out a method by means of which airships can be driven by steam.

According to a very conservative account of the invention, as given out by the Air Ministry, it does away completely with the ordinary boiler, steam being generated by means of internal combustion power or heat energy.

The superheated steam heat energy is supplied to special steam motors, which are reversible and can be controlled from a central control station. Heavy oil is used as fuel and it is claimed that the driving machinery can be safely placed inside the frame of the airship instead of in separate gondolas, as it present.

This will bring about a great reduction in air resistance and will therefore reduce the power required for propulsion.

It is claimed that the new system will function at altitudes hitherto unattainable with the ordinary type of internal combustion engine.

URY DIVORCE SUIT IS SURPRISE

Former Columbus Grove People in Court at Toledo

COLUMBUS GROVE.—(Special)—Surprise was created here when it became known suit for divorce and alimony had been filed in Toledo against Dr. Charles D. Ury, 40, of 502 Dorset, by his wife, Mrs. Cathleen Ury, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Laibe, Columbus Grove. Mrs. Ury's petition for injunction restraining Dr. Ury from disposing of his automobile or money, was granted in common pleas court there.

Mrs. Ury charges neglect and cruelty and names a woman as co-respondent. She claims that Dr. Ury earns about $10,000 a year, owns two autos and has a large amount of stocks, bonds and money. She says her health is bad and that all she owns is a $9,000 apartment and an electric auto.

The two were boy and girl sweethearts. Ury was a country school teacher near here. After graduating from a medical college, he went to Toledo, where, it is said, he has been very successful.

HUSBAND TOO FOND OF ANOTHER WOMAN-WIFE CHARGES IN PETITION

Married life for Mrs. Dorothy F. Point extended over only 28 days, as shown in her petition for divorce, filed late Monday afternoon against her husband, James B. Point, 636 N. Jefferson-st., Ohio Electric conductor.

The couple were married on August 1, 1921. Mrs. Point is 18 and her husband, 21. The wife charges that he failed to provide her a home, clothing, food and care and that he ordered her to go to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Johnson, Columbus Grove. Mrs. Point came up from Columbus Grove Monday to file the court action.

She relates in her petition that her husband possesses an automobile and that he rides and drives without her. She charges that he is associating with a woman of whom he was fond before his marriage.

Because of the other woman, Mrs. Point says she has been subjected to slurs and words of disrespect.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS REAP HARVEST

Elude Revenue Men; Sell to Chinese in Honolulu

HONOLULU. — (By International News Service) — Honolulu's "Chinatown"—or certain sections of it—which was plunged into deepest gloom a week ago when opium touched the peak price of $150 per tin, has taken down the crepe and hung out the bunting for a mere $120 will now purchase a tin of "hop," if presented to the proper person.

This news is reported to have reached the office of the local Internal Revenue Inspector today thru underground channels. It is further reported that the cause of the drop in price of the "dream stuff" may be attributed to the arrival a few days since of the T. K. K. liner Korea Maru from Yokohama, bringing the tinced essence of poppy. How the contraband was landed in Honolulu, with both the Narcotic and Prohibition squads of the local Revenue Office watching every known channel in an attempt to intercept the drug on its way to its consignees, is a mystery.

Earlier in the month the Inspector's squad, aided by the revenue cutter Earp, located and seized $60,000 worth of smuggled opium.

HARDING REALLY DEMOCRAT

If You Doubt It, Read This Line of Stories

SOURCE OF MANY ANECDOTES

"Tosses" for Lunch, Helps Painters, Saves Owls

WASHINGTON — (Special) — President Harding has become a rival of Abraham Lincoln as a source of presidential anecdotes.

For 50 years Lincoln has supplied elementary textbooks with scores of personal, human stories. Now comes Harding—like Lincoln, the son of common people, reared in a rural community, democrats—with a small "d."

And, like Lincoln, Harding has the kind of personality that breeds anecdotes. Here are some:

THE MAKE-UP RULE

Reaching in his pocket for a coin, the president accidentally drew forth a thin, worn piece of metal. "My make-up rule," he explained. His guests were puzzled until the president explained that a make-up rule is a printer's tool of all work. The printer uses it to pick up type, to scrape dried ink from type— even to open bottles and clean his fingernails.

"I'm never fully dressed unless I have my rule," the president said. "It's the badge of my profession!"

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT

The president was asked to present a cup at a newspaper men's golf tournament. "That might put me in an embarrassing position," he said. "I might have to present the cup to myself. Of course, I'm going to play. You can't bar me — I'm a newspaper man, am I not?"

THE SENATE DINNER

After Harding had delivered his message to the Senate on the soldier's bonus, he invited a luncheon in the Capitol with several of his former senatorial colleagues. "Who's going to pay the check?" asked one.

"Let's flip pennies for it," said the president.

They did. And Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York had to pay.

THE TOWER MAN

The president was reading the morning papers while taking a railway trip. As he finished each one he folded it up carefully. Then he gazed steadfastly out of the window. "I'm watching for a chance to give these papers to a tower man," he said. "Those fellows get mighty lonesome out here all alone and they'll appreciate something to read."

HELPS PAINTERS

A group of painters were making the White House white. "Let me show you how to do that," said the president, seizing a brush. "I used to paint as a boy," he explained. "Painted a whole school house."

Later as he was washing his hands in the executive office he said:

"That's more fun than I've had since I've been president."

WHITE HOUSE OPEN

An old lady from a distant state stood looking at the White House. The president gave orders that she be taken thru the whole building. Then she was brought to meet him. "I want people to consider the White House as their own," he said. "I want it to be open especially to those who don't often get a chance to see fine things."

PRESIDENT AS SHOPPER

THE OWL STORY

A family of owls took up their abode on the White House lawn. The president summoned a jury of children from a nature study class to pass on the fate of the night-hooters. The children decided the owls should stay.

They're still there.

NEW POSTAGE METER DISPLACES STAMPS AND SPEEDS UP MAILING

The new postage meter in action.

HIT BY AUTO, STEVENS ASKS $1,025 DAMAGES

Charges that he was knocked from a city street car on W. Kibby-st. while trying to board the car, is made by Charles E. Stevens in an action in common pleas court for damages of $1,025 against Jerry Spiece.

Stevens says that, when down, Spiece's automobile drove over his body. He claims the ordinance requiring drivers of automobiles to stop when passengers board or alight from city cars was violated. The $25 is to pay for medical services expended, the petition says.

JUDGMENT IS CONFESSED.

A. M. Miller has confessed judgment in common pleas court in favor of John H. Hartman and J. L. Hartman, doing business as Hartman & Son, Columbus Grove, in the amount of $965.

FAMILY REUNION.

The Biner and Hance family reunion will be held at Faurot Park Labor Day.

A recent invention is a postage meter which makes it possible for these three girls to seal and stamp 20,000 letters an hour. This alone means a great saving in wages. But there is another factor of equal importance—the government gets its two cents for "service only," as the meter obviates the use of the conventional postage stamp. The machine stamps each envelope in ink, "U. S. P. O." and the meter records each stamping. At regular intervals the meter is removed and taken to the postoffice, where a government employee reads it and bills the user according to the meter dial. Then the meter is officially sealed.

GENERAL MEETING OF BOY SCOUTS IS CALLED

For the purpose of hearing a report on finances of the organization, a report of community chest activities, a partial report of the summer camp, with plans for the next court of honor and such other business as the council may elect, a meeting of the entire Boy Scout council will be held at headquarters, Thursday night, at 7:30 o'clock.

This meeting is called by E. F. Stalmsmith, scout executive and secretary, and in the call is announced as a most important one.

RADIO SHOW WILL OPEN TOMORROW

First Exhibition in U. S. to be Held in Chicago

WIRELESS LEADERS GATHER

Harding's Voice Will be Flashed Thru Space

CHICAGO — (By Associated Press) — The National Radio Show, the first of its kind ever held in this country, will open here tomorrow, with manufacturers from all over the country represented, amid the plaudits of the many wireless men whom the show has drawn to Chicago.

The Radio Show, besides containing the exhibits of hundreds of manufacturers of radio apparatus, will also show the various developments of wireless communication since the day when Marconi flashed his famous message across the Atlantic. Ancient sets of fifteen and twenty years ago, with their coherers and detector crystals, will be displayed alongside of the very latest in radio construction. Instruments capable of sending and receiving messages half way round the globe.

HARDING TO TALK

Seated in his chair in the White House at Washington, President Harding will talk over a land wire to the Naval Station, a few miles distant, where his voice will be broadcasted by wireless telephone. The message will be picked up at the Radio Show, where it will be amplified and scattered thru the hall by loud speakers. Other prominent officials in Washington will also be heard by this method.

The entire wireless exhibit used by the Great Lakes Naval Training Station at the Pageant of Progress held here has been installed, and will be operated. Fort Sheridan has sent down a rival exhibit.

RADIO AUTO

E. F. Glavin, inventor of the radio controlled automobile, will have his machine in working order during the show, demonstrating the method of wireless control. Used on a battleship during the recent airplane bombing tests. Special wireless telephone transmitting outfits have been set up, and music and speeches will be sent out nightly. An airplane will be equipped with instruments and the pilot directed in his evolutions by radio.

The exhibition is being held in conjunction with the first National convention of the American Radio Relay League, a nation wide organization of commercial and amateur wireless men. Addresses will be given by Hiram P. Maxim, president of the League, and other officers. Among others expected to deliver technical papers are Dr. Lee de Forest, prominent eastern radio man, Major E. H. Armstrong, Prof. E. V. McAdams of Purdue University, Prof. C. M. Jansky of the University of Minnesota, and Prof. W. Terry of the University of Wisconsin.

AVERAGE LIFE OF MAN LENGTHENED FOUR YEARS

COLUMBUS — The average life of a man has lengthened four years in the last quarter century despite the crime wave, war, automobile and other hazards.

"Within another generation, the allotted three-score year and ten will be a thing of the past," Dr. George W. Hoglan declared today, basing his claims on mortality statistics of the American Insurance Union, of which he is secretary. "Improvements brought about in sanitation, the nation-wide anti-spitting fight and other steps forward have contributed toward increasing man's longevity," Dr. Hoglan said. "Severe epidemics of typhoid and malaria, which formerly took such a huge toll if life, no longer are known."

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. — Edward H. Rippon, Buffalo, was swept over the Bridal Veil Falls and dashed to death on the rocks below, leaving a note which tends to show that his motive was suicide.

REFUSE SOLDIERS SUNDAY BURIAL

Canton Cemetery Trustees Act Scored by Legion

CANTON, Ohio — (By International News Service) — "The burial of the dead" has become a reality in Canton and promises to remain for some time, unless West-lawn Cemetery Association trustees relent from their order that no more burials will be made there on Sunday.

The Canton Post of the American Legion has become embroiled in a contest with the cemetery officials and is carrying the matter to the attention of State and national officers.

Bodies of Canton soldiers, killed or dying from injury and disease overseas, are beginning to arrive with frequent regularity, and the local post of the legion sees to it that each has a military funeral as a final tribute to the supreme sacrifice. These funerals have always been held on Sundays, because more of the ex-soldiers can turn out on that day, and the funerals are always larger. The cemetery order hit the legion hard; but the old army resourcefulness came into play. They held the funeral for Corporal Walter Griffith, killed at the Marne, and it was a large one. Full ceremonies took place at the spot where the grave was to be, then the casket was lowered to the ground, and an armed guard was tolled off. Reliefs were formed, and two sentinels stood erect, keeping vigil thru the night and on Monday morning until cemetery sextons came to dig the grave and lower the coffin into it.

"Our buddies went overseas on Sundays, fought and died on Sundays, so why shouldn't they be buried on this day, when more of their comrades can turn out?" asks Ben J. Daugherty, a former major, and commander of Canton Post. This "divouche of the dead" will be the policy of the legion until the cemetery trustees relent.

"Don't rub your youth away!"

RUBBING on the washboard for hours each week makes a woman grow old faster than any other work she has to do.

Today hundreds of thousands of women are saving themselves this needless drudgery. They have learned to let Rinso take the place of all those hours of exhausting work.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap makers in the world. After years of experimenting, they have perfected a soap product which takes all the hard rubbing out of washday.

Rinso loosens and dissolves the dirt from even the heaviest pieces of the weekly wash, without injury to a single fabric.

Don't rub your youth away. Try doing next week's washing with Rinso. Get it today from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co. Cambridge, Mass.

DISSOLVE—For each tub of clothes thoroughly dissolve a full package of Rinso in one quart of boiling water. (When water is hard or clothes extra-dirty, use more Rinso.)

POUR INTO TUB of lukewarm water—mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a good, rich, lasting, soapy suds even after the clothes have been scrubbed.

Then let your clothes soak and rinse without any hard rubbing—Soak one hour—two hours—overnight—whatever time is convenient. These wonderful mild suds loosen every particle of dirt. Rinse, to remove the loose dirt, till the water runs clear.

HARDING REALLY DEMOCRAT

If You Doubt It, Read This Line of Stories

SOURCE OF MANY ANECDOTES

"Tosses" for Lunch, Helps Painters, Saves Owls

WASHINGTON — (Special) — President Harding has become a rival of Abraham Lincoln as a source of presidential anecdotes.

For 50 years Lincoln has supplied elementary textbooks with scores of personal, human stories. Now comes Harding—like Lincoln, the son of common people, reared in a rural community, democrats—with a small "d."

And, like Lincoln, Harding has the kind of personality that breeds anecdotes. Here are some:

THE MAKE-UP RULE

Itching in his pocket for a coin, the president accidentally drew forth a thin, worn piece of metal. "My make-up rule," he explained. His guests were puzzled until the president explained that a make-up rule is a printer's tool of all work. The printer uses it to pick up type, to scrape dried ink from type—even to open bottles and clean his fingernails.

"I'm never fully dressed unless I have my rule," the president said. "It's the badge of my profession."

THE GOLF TOURNAMENT

The president was asked to present a cup at a newspaper men's golf tournament.

"That might put me in an embarrassing position," he said. "I might have to present the cup to myself. Of course, I'm going to play. You can't bar me—I'm a newspaper man, am I not?"

THE SENATE DINNER

After Harding had delivered his message to the Senate on the soldier's bonus, he attended a luncheon in the capitol with several of his former senatorial colleagues.

"Why's going to pay the check?" asked one.

"Let's flip pennies for it," said the president.

They did. And Senator James W. Wadsworth of New York had to pay.

THE TOWER MAN

The president was reading the morning papers while taking a railway trip. As he finished each one, he folded it up carefully. Then he gazed steadily out of the window. "I'm watching for a tower man," he said. "Those fellows get mighty lonesome out here all alone and they'll appreciate something to read."

HELPS PAINTERS

A group of painters were making the White House white.

"Let me show you how to do that," said the president, seizing a brush.

"I used to paint as a boy," he explained. "Painted a whole school house."

Later as he was washing his hands in the executive office sink, he said:

"That's more fun than I've had since I've been president."

WHITE HOUSE OPEN

An old lady from a distant state stood looking at the White House. The president gave orders that she be taken thru the whole building. Then she was brought to meet him.

"I want people to consider the White House as their own," he said. "I want it to be open especially to those who don't often get a chance to see fine things."

PRESIDENT AS SHOPPER

The president drove quietly to a store in the heart of Washington's business section, dismounted and went shopping. He selected a gift for one of the executive household.

"I haven't had much chance to shop since I've been president," he remarked. "That's one drawback of the presidency. I used to do all the family marketing—and I can drive a pretty keen bargain."

THE OWL STORY

A family of owls took up their abode on the White House lawn. The president summoned a jury of children from a nature study class to pass on the fate of the night-hooters. The children decided the owls should stay.

They're still there.

AVERAGE LIFE OF MAN
LENGTHENED FOUR YEARS

COLUMBUS — The average life of a man has lengthened four years in the last quarter century despite the crime wave, war, automobile and other hazards.
"Within another generation, the allotted three score year and ten will be a thing of the past," Dr.
George W. Hogan declared today, basing his claims on mortality statistics of the American Insurance
Union, of which he is secretary.
"Improvements brought about in sanitation, the nation-wide antispitting fight and other steps forward have contributed toward increasing man's longevity," Dr. Hogan said. "Severe epidemics of typhoid and malaria, which formerly took such a huge toll if life, no longer are known."
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y. — Edward
H. Rippon, Buffalo, was swept over the Bridal Veil Falls and dashed to death on the rocks below, leaving a note which tends to show that his motive was suicide.

REFUSE SOLDIERS
SUNDAY BURIAL

Canton Cemetery Trustees Act
Scored by Legion

CANTON, Ohio — (By International News Service. — "The biouac of the dead" has become a reality in Canton and promises to remain for some time, unless West-lawn Cemetery Association trustees relent from their order that no more burials will be made there on Sunday.

The Canton Post of the American Legion has become embroiled in a contest with the cemetery officials and is carrying the matter to the attention of State and national officers.
Bodies of Canton soldiers, killed or dying from injury and disease overseas, are beginning to arrive with frequent regularity, and the local post of the legion sees to it that each has a military funeral as a final tribute to the supreme sacrifice. These funerals have always been held on Sundays, because more of the ex-soldiers can turn out on that day, and the funerals are always larger. The cemetery order hit the legion hard, but the old army resourcefulness came into play. They held the funeral for Corporal Walter Griffith, killed at the Marne, and it was a large one.

Full ceremonies took place at the spot where the grave was to be, then the casket was lowered to the ground, and an armed guard was told off. Reliefs were formed, and two sentinels stood erect, keeping vigil thru the night and on Monday morning until cemetery sextons came to dig the grave and lower the coffin into it.

"Our buddies went overseas on Sundays, fought and died on Sundays, so why shouldn't they be buried on this day, when more of their comrades can turn out?" asks Ben J. Daugherty, a former major, and commander of Canton Post.
This "bivouac of the dead" will be the policy of the legion until the cemetery trustees relent.

"Don't rub your youth away!"

RUBBING on the washboard for hours each week makes a woman grow old faster than any other work she has to do.
Today hundreds of thousands of women are saving themselves this needless drudgery. They have learned to let Rinso take the place of all those hours of exhausting work.
Rinso is made by the makers of Lux, the largest soap makers in the world. After years of experimenting, they have perfected a soap product which takes all the hard rubbing out of washday.
Rinso loosens and dissolves the dirt from even the heaviest pieces of the weekly wash, without injury to a single fabric.
Don't rub your youth away. Try doing next week's washing with Rinso. Get it today from your grocer or any department store. Lever Bros. Co. Cambridge, Mass.

DISOLVE—For each tub of clothes thoroughly dissolve a half package of Rinso into two quarts of boiling water. (Where water is hard or clothes extra dirty, use more Rinso.)

POUR INTO TUB of lukewarm water—mix well. Keep adding the solution until you get a good, rich, soapy suds even after the clothes have been gone.

FIRE PROBERS OF STATE COMING

Eleven Cases of Suspected Incendiarism Here

THREE MORE BARN BURNED

Aides of Fire Marshal Expected Tuesday

Men from the office of the state fire marshal, detailed to investigate fires of mysterious origin, are expected to arrive here late Tuesday to start an extensive probe into the recent series of fires believed to have been caused by the operations of a "fire bug."

Fire Chief John Mack Saturday requested the state fire officials to send investigators here and Monday when none appeared he again asked that officers be sent to Lima immediately.

Fears are entertained here that the "fire bug" eventually will successfully set fire to one or more of the larger buildings in Lima, since an attempt was made Sunday afternoon to burn the city hall.

NINE BARN BURNED
Nine barns have been completely destroyed in and near Lima in the past two weeks and a grocery store, at 669 W. Elm-st., belonging to Sam Shidder, was partly consumed by a blaze believed to have been the result of incendiarism.

As flames swept the upper story of the building, Patrolman Charles Hamilton rescued a young woman as she slept, apparently overcome by the fumes that had killed her room.

Fires of mysterious origin which will be investigated by state officers are as follows:

August 27—Barn belonging to Chance E. Eagy, 465 S. Central-av.

August 13—Barn belonging to P. X. Ebner and son, 806 S. Main-st.

August 25—Barn belonging to J. E. McCrady, E. High-st.-rd.

August 26—Barn belonging to J. W. Richelmeier, one mile east of Criderville.

August 27—Greengery belonging to Sam Shidder, 669 W. Elm-st.

August 28—Barn belonging to the Rev. Joseph Wingate, McCullough-st., just north of the Findlay-rd.

August 28—Barn belonging to Pat Riley, 352 E. Kibby-st.

August 29—Three barns belonging to C. B. Thompson and Ira Spees, near the intersection of Fourth-st and the Ohio Electric tracks.

MORE INCENDIARISM
So far, Chief Mack says that he has no clues that might lead to the identity of the "bug" and that the investigators will have to start without any lead.

When the three barns were destroyed late Monday on E. Fourth-st, two horses, a mule and a flock of chickens burned to death.

Fire quickly consumed the structures, which Chief Mack believes were set afire simultaneously.

LIFE OF DOOMED MAN PROLONGED

Reprieve Granted Joe Mack by Governor Davis

COLUMBUS — (By Associated Press) — Governor Davis today granted a reprieve to Joe Mack, committed to the penitentiary from Summit-co for murder in the first degree, and sentenced to electrocution September 3.

The reprieve is for one month and was granted for the reason that eighth appellate district is not duly constituted as only one member is acting and the statute requires a majority of the judges of the court of appeals to act on a stay of execution.

Attorneys for Mack are to take steps towards obtaining a stay of execution when the court is fully constituted.

RULES ON CLEMENCY

WRECKED AIRSHIP ZR-2
RAISED FROM RIVER

LULL, England — Virtually all of the wreckage of the ZR-2, which fell into the Humber river last week, has now been raised, according to Sir Frederick Young, a salvage expert, today.

The British naval salvage ship Reindeer, which was used during the war in salvaging submarines, arrived today to assist in recovering the remaining debris. Hope was still expressed that the majority of the bodies of the airman who lost their lives in the accident would be recovered.

The body of Quartermaster Sergeant Greener, of the Royal Air Force, was washed ashore this morning in the river near Brough, six miles west of Hull.

Sanction has been given by the Hull corporation for the American bodies to lie in state in any of the public buildings while awaiting transportation to America.

DECORATORS REVAMPING COURT HOUSE INTERIOR

The Allen-co court room is being re-decorated, during the absence of Judge F. C. Becker, at the meeting of the American and State Bar Association in Cincinnati.

All court assignments have been vacated for the week, thus giving decorators an opportunity to work.

A. Quinn, representing the House, hold Art and Decorating company, No. 2, Morris Arcade, has been given the contract to do the work.

Quinn stated Tuesday that the halls and ceiling will be done in soft buff and ivory tints and the line of panel work be followed entirely.

Scaffolding has already been placed around the entire court room on the first floor.

BOWDLE IS RELEASED AFTER INVESTIGATION

J. W. Bowdle, arrested by the police Monday on complaint that he had been annoying young girls, was released, following an investigation.

While it was shown he had stopped and talked to the girls, his acts had not transgressed the law in the opinion of officials after inquiry was made.

LIMA ELKS READY TO INVADE CEDAR POINT, THURSDAY

Accompanying Lima Lodge will be the Elks band, a male chorus of 40 voices, the base ball team and marching club. The delegation will leave at 6:30 a. m. Thursday and arrive at Cedar Point in time to march in the parade. The ball team and marchers are instructed to wear their uniforms enroute.

J. T. Kaufman, exalte driller at Lima Lodge, left for Cedar Point Monday. Regularly elected delegates to the convention are scheduled to leave Tuesday. The delegates are: Glenn E. W. Carl, Redderson, Dale Cremona, Clarence Frannifelter, George Gregg and John W. Beall.

YOUNG MAN IS FATALLY HURT IN BOXING BOUT

ANNAPOLIS, Md.—Injured in a boxing match at one of the inter-battalion contests of the tournament that was brought to a close on Saturday, Midshipman William Bruce Hayes, 16 years old, died at the naval hospital here early today. The dead lad's body will be sent home tomorrow in Lockhaven, Pa., for interment.

Young Hayes sustained the fatal injury while engaged in a bout with one of his class mates. The blow was a heavy one on the head, but did not knock him out. On the contrary he did not complain until some time after the bout was over. Then he was sent to the hospital. His condition grew decidedly worse yesterday. Naval surgeons ascribed his death to cranial injury. The physical condition of the youngster had been passed upon by naval surgeons before he was permitted to participate in boxing.

STRANGE SUICIDE AT CONTINENTAL

Woman Hangs Self by Thrusting
Head Under Auto Top Bow

WAS MENTALLY UNBALANCED

Dead Body Found by Husband
Early Monday Night

OTTAWA.—(Special.)—Mrs. Cleo Kraft, 36, wife of John Kraft, residing just outside the village of Continental, northwest of here, in Putnam co., suicided Monday night about 8 o'clock in a most unusual manner.

Mrs. Kraft left the house soon after the supper hour and when she did not return in a reasonable length of time, her husband investigated and found the woman dead in an automobile near the house.

She had climbed into the car, thrust her head between the top of the auto and one of the supporting bows and was strangled.

Mrs. Kraft, the mother of two small children, had been an inmate of the Toledo state hospital for the insane and had been discharged as cured and returned to her home.

She had given no intimation of a suicidal tendency and her husband was not apprehensive when she left the house and remained away a short time.

So far as is known, history does not record a suicide under such unusual circumstances as that which attended the taking of the life of Mrs. Kraft.

INTOXICATED, TWO HURT
WHEN AUTO IS DITCHED

VAN WERT.—(Special.)—John Karatit of Coldwater and Andy Smangle of Osgood, Mercer co., securing possession of whiskey, became intoxicated, police say, and tried to drive an auto. The car was ditched near Ohio City, south of here.

Both men were injured and after their hurts had been taken care of at the office of a physician in Ohio City, Karatit was arrested on a charge of transporting liquor. He was fined $100. Several bottles of the stuff was found in the wrecked car.

CAMPAIGN OPENED BY
DRY FLYING SQUADRON

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—A ten months campaign for better enforcement of the prohibition amendment was begun today at Noblesville, Ind., by the Flying Squadron Foundation, an Indiana corporation, formed under the guidance of the late J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, following the Flying Squadron campaign of 1914 and 1915. After a swing thru Indiana the three groups of Flying Squadron representatives will enter Michigan, Illinois, Ohio, Pennsylvania and New York in the order named and will close the ten months campaign in New England, Oliver W. IT'S SUCH A COMFORT

In grandma's day there was no such thing as an electric washer to take at least one laborious duty off her shoulders.

No wonder, then, that the women who drudged from morning to night look at the "Crystal" and say "it is such a comfort."

More than that, it is easy to purchase and you can enjoy all the comforts of its use while paying for it.

And it is so cheap to operate. A little good soap, some hot water, about 4 cents worth of electricity and a turn of the switch does the ordinary family washing.

Come in and look at a "Crystal" demonstration without placing yourself under any obligation to purchase.

FIRE BUGS AT WORK

UNUSUAL number of fires in Lima and environs during the past ten days or two weeks, confined to barns in the night season, indicates positively and conclusively that incendiaries are at work.

Under such conditions the property of no person is safe from attack. The incendiary is like a thief in the night. He strikes where least expected. The results of his perverted ideas are costly. The pyromaniac is a scourge in any community. The sooner he is ferreted out and placed behind prison bars, the sooner will his reign of terror end. Like a moral pervert, he is always a menace while at large.

That an incendiary or incendiaries are at work in this community can scarcely be doubted. In fact, officials generally recognize that one or more of these individuals, with a peculiar mental twist, are delighting in the destruction of property. They have an insane desire to burn and destroy.

In years past and gone, when epidemics of fires occurred, eventually the responsibility was placed and when the guilty parties were taken, it was found that they applied the torch merely for the purpose of seeing something burn and to see the fire department in action.

That the activities of the destroyers of property have been turned from barn fires to larger game, is evidenced by the attempt made to burn City Hall. While officials are conducting a rigid investigation, the situation here calls for a sweeping effort on the part of attaches of the office of the state fire marshal.

No time should be lost in running down the guilty parties. Too many fires have already occurred. After the horse is stolen, locking the barn accomplishes nothing.

DOLLAR DAY

MERCHANTS of Lima will offer to the public another series of bargains in their Dollar Day sale which will be held Wednesday. A full account of this event is to be found in the various advertisements in this edition of The News.

Dollar Day in Lima has become an event eagerly awaited by the buying public. Merchants have earned a reputation for fair dealing and the giving of great bargains. On these occasions hundreds and thousands avail themselves of the opportunity to buy for the entire family at a big saving.

The sale Wednesday differs from previous ones only in that dealers have promised greater values than ever before. Extensive stocks are to go at reductions which should make them attractive and quickly snapped up. Not only will there be dollar sales but cuts will be in effect on goods costing much more, which will make it possible for the buying public to save on most anything needed for the home.

Read the ads in this edition carefully. It will pay you.

SPILLANE'S LETTERS

RICHARD SPILLANE is the business editor of the Philadelphia Public Ledger. He is making a tour of the United States, visiting all the more important cities and writing thrice weekly for a clientele of progressive newspapers concerning business conditions of the country as he finds them.

This business expert is finding isolated cases of pessimism, but optimism is the thing he is locating for the most part, after getting a bunch of business men and manufacturers into a meeting, called for the purpose of digging into conditions. Spillane is telling in the columns of The Lima News on Monday, Wednesday and Friday of each week how the country has started again on the Prosperity Highway.

He presents absolutely accurate business conditions. He talks with leaders in manufacturing, finance, transportation, shipping, labor and then tells what they say. These letters run for ten weeks. They started last week. He has already applied himself to the task in several cities. His reports radiate optimism. He has told of the come-back of business in Buffalo, Cleveland and Toledo. He will be heard from in another city on Wednesday in the columns of this paper. Better look for it and read and profit.

Spillane's information is of the greatest importance for every reader—buyer or seller, producer or consumer, employer or employee, husband or wife, rich man or poor man. It deals with conditions today in the axis upon which the business world revolves, industrially, financially or sentimentally.

ROYALIST PLOT IN GERMANY

IT was bound to come, but the royalists are getting busy in Germany rather sooner than was expected. The assassination of Dr. Mathias Erzberger, former vice chancellor and former minister of finance, is believed to be the result of a revival of the activities of the militarists and monarchists in the German Republic. In Erzberger there was a bulwark of Republicanism and orderly observance of the treaty of Versailles.

Royalist and Republican newspaper condemned the assassination, which occurred in the Black Forest, on a highway. Erzberger was attacked by two youths. His body was riddled by bullets. Royalist and militarist activities have been more pronounced during the past few days than since the signing of the armistice. Prince Eitel Frederick and General Ludendorff reviewed the German world war veterans in a great military display in Berlin and the ex-Kaiser sent a message from Holland showing sympathy for the demonstration.

Army officers are again appearing on the streets in full uniform and decorations and the former military spirit is being evidenced in other ways. It is understood that militarist revivals have been planned throughout all Germany.

It is scarcely likely that any effort that may be made to restore the Kaiser or any other under a monarchical form of government will succeed, but it is recognized by the government that the situation is freighted with danger.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

By PHYLIS PHILLIPS
THE TELL-TALE CAR

Mr. Hamlen hallooed to Cherry when he was ready to start, and with a last promise to Beth to see her that evening without fail, Cherry slipped down to the waiting car.

The old merchant seemed intensely proud of having such a pretty and capable, little person as chauffeur, and kept chuckling to himself happily as he watched Cherry manipulate the wheel as easily as she did her chapeaux and lady customers.

They thundered out into the country and soon came to their destination. Here Cherry had a chance to rest and explore the most beautiful rose garden she had ever seen. Tea and cakes were served by Mr. Trevellian, himself, in the garden, and after that Mr. Hamlen sat and finished his business with that gentleman until five o'clock sounded from a silver-tongued clock within the house.

On the way back to Wellsburg Cherry drove more slowly. It was a gorgeous autumn day. The sky was clispy beautiful in its late afternoon colorings. She even stopped the car once or twice to gather some particularly handsome asters that grew by the roadside and then hurried on again.

They were still a mile or two from Wellsburg when they came upon Ned's car, empty, standing to one side of the road.

Mr. Hamlen saw it first and drew Cherry's attention to it and wondered where its owner was.

Remembering Beth Wilders' words of a few hours before Cherry knew very well that no matter where he was, Arline Bates was with her husband. Furthermore, that this was proof positive that Ned felt some attachment for this old flame of his, despite his protests to the contrary. And that on a perfect afternoon he preferred to be with Arline, the designing little mink, than with his own wife. Nice thing for her to know.

The truth of the matter was, that Arline had pleaded a headache shortly after the lunch hour, due to the rush of work that had fallen to her that morning. And Ned, thoughtful ly, had suggested a spin in the air to blow it away.

Naturally Arline jumped at the suggestion. The more she and Ned were seen together, intimately, the sooner would she attain her heart's desire. After a glorious spin the two left the car to search for a cool spring that Ned knew of some half a mile from the highroad. It was at this point that Cherry passed by.

With a proud toss of her head, and a smile, Cherry shot the car toward, so as to be well out of sight before the truants should spy them. Covered with dust, she finally deposited Mr. Hamlen on his own front doorstep, much to that old gentleman's delight.

"Now, Miss Cherry, that was certainly clever of you to get me home here in time for my dinner, and not a hitch from start to finish. You must come in and have dinner with us. I won't hear of anything else." For a moment Cherry hesitated. Then remembering how seldom she was ever considered by the Randall family, she smiled brightly as she accepted the kind invitation.

HEALTH HINTS

By William Brady, M. D.
OLD DAN DRUFF

Please inform me, asks a correspondent, whether there is any real, honest-to-goodness cure for old dan druff. My hair is oily, which causes Dan to form in a sort of paste with large flakes clinging to the hair. I don't care how much trouble to apply. I'm desperate. I've already tried kerosene and mange cure, so called. I shall appreciate your advice. (HELEN C. C.)

Dandruff is practically impossible to cure, though generally it may be relieved, while the victim persists in the unhygienic custom of wearing headgear that excludes sunlight and air from the scalp. And very few of us can trust our moral courage to discard hats from our wardrobes.

The evidence seems to show that the disease condition which physicians call seborrhea (increased oil secretion) of the scalp is of bacterial origin. When the oily secretion is thick and scaly, it is called seborrhea sicca or dandruff. Lassar, a noted European skin specialist, found that dandruff scales from the human head could be mixed with vaseline and rubbed into the back of a rabbit and the rabbit would develop seborrhea sicca. There is a very reason to believe that dandruff is communicated from one person to another by the barber, the hair dresser, the common hair brush (which still prevails even in some modern hotels), and by the hat bands in hat stores where customers trust on numerous offerings before selecting one. I feel that the barber is the chief offender, for not one of the better class of barbers among a hundred approaches aspersis or what surgeons or physicians understand as cleanliness in his handling of implements and customers.

It does not follow that because seborrhea sicca is of bacterial origin any alleged germicide or microbe killer will do any good. In fact no such remedy seems to be worth a whoop, in practice.

If a certain disagreeable odor and greasiness are not insuperable objections, the following formula, massaged into about one-fourth of the scalp each night for six nights, a shampoo the seventh night, and then repeat, for six weeks, will come as nearly curing dandruff as is humanly possible:

Salicilyc acid 20 grains
Precipitated sulphur 1 dram
Petrolatum 1 ounce
(Properly made, this is impalpable, no particle can be felt in it. A very little suffices to apply with the finger tips, the hair being parted here and there to expose the scalp.)

SAPS I HAVE MET.

Mr. Ambrose Bibbins has probably tried to do more for me than any of my other friends. Hardly a day has passed during the past few racing seasons that he has not come to my office about 1 o'clock in the afternoon with a tip direct from the stables on a horse that couldn't lose if he ran on three legs. "We missed yesterday, but we cannot possibly miss today," says Mr. Bibbins. "My brother-in-law was out at the stables this morning and he has put down 100 bones on this nag." Mr. Bibbins has a system that cannot lose—during the winter months when there is no racing in our vicinity. The fact that Mr. Bibbins has occasionally put my money on a horse that was not entered and that nobody over heard of, does not diminish his friendship for me. He is as faithful as ever.

The middle class in England is going to rise and demand war on the profiteers. They call it the White Collar Union. We probably shall never hear anything more about this uprising, so we had better mention it now.

THE RULING PASSION.

Ignatz Jacob Jacobowski,
Once a Russian of some power,
Kin of Grand Duke Hereshowski
Ivan Ruric Romanowski,
Languished in a lonely tower.

Placed there by the Bolsheviks,
Stripped of all his worldly wealth,
In that tower damp and leaky,
Where the rats were wild and squeaky,
Ignatz worried for his health.

Then he saw how Leon Trotzky,

In an earnest search for pelf,
Had a large cool million potsky,
And he said, "I'll take a shotzky

So he broke out of prison.

Grew large whiskers on his cheeks;
When a few round suns had risen,
A complete disguise was his'n—
And he joined the Bolsheviks.

Ignatz looted and he looted,

He robbed gunnills, stores and banks;
When he'd stored away a million,
He aspired to half a billion—
Never once did he say "Thanks."

He was rich beyond all measure.

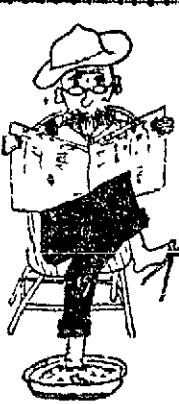

In his own steam yacht he sat,
He invoiced his wondrous treasure
And he murmured oft with pleasure,
"Trotzky never will get that."

WANTED-A HUSBAND

By SAMUEL HOPKINS ADAMS

Exultant she went out into a dusk of wind and rain, and fought her way joyously thru it. In the front yard she found Gloria, who had stepped on her way to the theatre, stretched on the divan and talking to the turtles.

"I looked in to see how you were getting on," said the actress, eyeing her keenly.

"Splendidly!"

"Everything all right in the gymnasium? Did Andy—er—"

"Oh, yes. It's all right," hastily he in the girl. "Just as right as it can be."

"You're awfully chirpy, consider what a beast of a raw, rainy day it's been," observed Helen.

"Is it bad?" said Darcy blandly. "I suppose it is, but I hardly notice."

"Another British mail in, I suppose," conjectured Maud. "That always brightens her up."

"As she told you about the letter, Gloria?" asked Helen.

"Monty Veyze? Of course. I know him."

"You know him?" cried Helen.

"Maud in a breath. 'What's he doing?'"

"Oh he's all that Darcy thinks," smiled Gloria. "It's years I've seen him. To put it lowwise, he was by way of being smart then. Just where is he now, Darcy?"

"Year the Siberian frontier," said Darcy shortly.

"I thought long engagements at the thing in England," said Gloria, musingly. "Particularly in uncertain times—when any might happen."

"Think that's pretty horrid of Maud, retorted Darcy, with a fully assumed sadness.

"Don't mean that way. But were really engaged to an Engman on active service, I'd go and marry him, on his very leave."

"I don't know," cried Helen. "Maud's 'really' sound-brought red to Darcy's cheeks. The latter turned to Gloria. 'Why not tell them?'"

"I'll tell them," said Darcy. "I'll tell them." "Inquired the staring at her mentor.

"All about Monty. The whole 'You know, I claim a part-up in him'."

"I can't," stammered Darcy. "I was exactly what the feminine Machiavelli on the divan was uttering for."

"I said she, sweetly. 'Very thing. I'll tell them. May I?'"

"ceiving a dubious nod, Gloria added."

"Montrose Veyze has finally left his leave. He'll be here about middle of October."

"That 'gone' feeling came over me the 15th?" asked Helen.

"I time for our wedding?"

"O That's the unfortunate. We hoped we could make it a wedding. That's the little Darcy has been waiting to go on you."

"I don't make it?" asked Maud. "In the notion of a titled adjunct to marriage appealed strongly to Maud's mind."

"I quite. The best-he can do is 16th. Possibly later. So I be married quite quietly in my apartment and have a honeymoon before he goes."

"all of which Darcy listened in stupefaction of despair. She opened by Helen Barrett's hearty congratulations."

"You know," said Helen. "I really quite been able to get it up to now. Oh, Darcy, I glad for you!"

"I'm some faltered excuse for going out of the room, the subject of untimely felicitations escaped while Gloria was putting her best of the severest judgment by asking her flat mates: "Don't you think Darcy looks beautiful in the eye of the day, so likewise is the lack of e looks healthy," granted indifferently."

"id she's a lot more cheerful," added Helen. "But always be—well, just Darcy."

"I will she? Wait until I've a her. And then keep a full eye on your Holcomb Lees or her way out Darcy pounced her."

"What have you let me in for?"

"How am I ever going to get out of it?"

"Heaven knows!" returned the actress airily.

"Don't you know?"

"Haven't you idea. Sufficient unto the day is—"

"But you've made this so dreadfully definite!"

"Darcy, I had to! I just couldn't stand Maud's insinuation that you weren't really engaged—the cat! She as much as said that Montrose Veyze was just having a silly flirtation with you and that you took it as a grand serious."

"What if she knew the awful truth?"

"Don't be afraid. She won't."

"How are we going to help it?"

"Break the engagement; there's one way. Say the word, Darcy, my child," said Gloria, striking a sacrificial attitude, "and I'll go across and gather in Monty Veyze myself, for your sake."

"Isn't there an obstacle on this side of the water?" suggested Darcy shyly, thinking of Jack Remsen.

Gloria reddened a little. "No, that any one knows of," she returned, "I am wedded to me a-r-r!"

"Anyway, if the engagement is broken, they'll say he jilted me."

"Then jilt him."

"They'd never believe it."

"Probably not," assented Gloria. "And October is awfully near!"

"I'll never dare show my face again," wailed Darcy.

"Oh, I don't know," returned the other reassuringly. "If it were your old face, now, you might be justified in not wanting to show it. Darcy, how much do you weigh?"

she demanded with an abrupt change of tone.

"One hundred and twenty-eight and a half, as I go on the gym floor."

"That's good enough. 'The time has come,' the walrus said, 'to talk of many things; of shoes, and shirts, and chemises, of hats and eke stockings.'"

"Clothes!" cried Darcy, her eyes sparkling.

"Clothes. Are you prepared, in the sight of heaven and earth, to spend seven or eight hundred of Aunt Sarah's hard-earned on a trousseau?"

"Oof! Don't say trousseau to me! It reminds me. Apart from that—try me!"

"All right. What are you going to do tomorrow at 3?"

"Cover Central Park lengthwise and back in the even hour. Andy's orders."

"Far be it from me to interfere. Make it the day after at 10 o'clock in the morning. Meet me at my place. We'll have a satirical orgy."

"That night Darcy dreamed herself a princess."

IMPORTED ENGLISH SUIT FOR COMING HUNTING SEASON

England is responsible for many of our sports clothes just as France gives us many of our ideas for evening frocks. One always thinks of the English-woman as the sportswoman, either hiking, playing golf or tennis or hunting. It is only natural that English sports clothes should be modified and used as patterns for sports clothes in other countries. In England, however, sports clothes usually mean tweeds, homespuns and jerseys made into rough wear suits. The silk sport suits of America which are worn only by spectators and the gallery at a sporting event are far different from the English sports suits designed for actual wear on the links or on the hunt.

This costume shown here was imported from England. It is a tawn striped velour costume coat with a black patent leather belt and black buttons. The collar may be worn open at the throat or closed as the weather demands or the wearer prefers. Woolen hose and stout oxford, and a soft velvet hat complete midlady's hunting outfit for coming fall.

Mrs. Roy McQuire and daughter, Mrs. Roy Macomson left for their home in Cleveland after a pleasant visit with Mrs. McQuire's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ashton, of E. Eureka-st., and other relatives and friends in this city.

The 13th annual reunion of the Ridenour family will be held at Faurst Park, Tuesday. At noon a basket lunch will be served. All members and relatives of the family are asked to bring their baskets and enjoy the day. Carmen Ridenour, secretary.

"NO WEDDING BELLS FOR ME TILL FEET GIVE OUT," SAYS ANN

Ann Pennington

NEW YORK — (Special) — No wedding bells for Ann Pennington! A lively rumor that she had married a wealthy Wall street broker has been cavorting on the Rialto of late.

"The idea!" exclaimed Ann as she entered her dressing room at the Liberty theater.

"Who says so?" she demanded, as she threw her hat on the table.

"Not so long as I have my dancing feet and can work!" she continued, sitting down and taking off one of her dancing pumps.

"I got a proposal every day, sometimes two," she went on, taking the pins from her long brown hair and sending it shimmering down her back with a toss of a pigtail head.

"It's funny," she added, unteeling her sash, "scarcely a day passes that I don't get a love letter from Cuba, a different Cuban, too. My pictures made a big hit in Cuba."

"A Wall street broker!" she mused, slipping off a yellow chiffon stocking. "I know a lot of men in Wall street. But no one down there has been monopolizing me. How these stories do start!"

"How about your engagement to George White that the papers had a year ago?" she was asked.

The tiny star of the "Scandals of 1921" fumbled with the buttons of her blue georgette shirtwaist.

"We were both very good friends, you know," she said. "And when your engagement was gossiped about neither of us wanted to hurt the other's feelings by denying it. But I'm not engaged and won't be."

There was a pause. Miss Pennington called her maid:

"Marie, hang these things up."

The interview was over.

GIRL, 17, WISHES TO MARRY

Does Not Seem to Understand Why Her Parents Oppose It

Seeks Place in Ohio Where Ceremony May Be Performed

Dear Miss Smart: Ask a girl 17 years old and am engaged to be married. We want to be married sometime this fall, but my parents will not give their approval. We have our hearts set on marriage and want to know if there is any place in Ohio where we can be married without my parents' consent? DETERMINED

A GIRL must have attained her 18th year before she can be married in Ohio without the consent of her parents.

Be a wise girl and give up the idea of marriage, as I am afraid your outlook is very discouraging and unpleasant. You are too young to consider marriage and especially when your parents refuse to give their sanction. It is not that they do not love you. They simply do not care to give their approval of anything which they realize is not just the proper thing. Several years from now will be a more suitable time for you to be thinking of marriage.

Remember the numerous and difficult tasks which marriage will bring. Few girls of 17 are physically strong and have not had sufficient experience to care for and manage a home properly. Consider these things and ask yourself if you are really and sincerely willing to give up many of the youthful pleasures, which mean so much to you. Wait a while, by all means. If you and your fiance care for each other deeply, this delay will not lessen your regard.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young girl 17. I would like for you to tell me the proper thing to do when a boy friend calls to take me to a dance. When I hear him drive up in his machine should I go to meet him at the gate or should I permit him to come up to the door alone? SUSANNE

Don't meet the young man at the gate, Susanne. He should ring the bell first and then be invited into the house, while you put on your wraps.

Dear Miss Smart: I am going to give a birthday party next week in calling to invite my guests will it be proper for me to say it is my birthday? I am not sure what I should do so I thought perhaps I had better inquire. A READER

Don't, don't, don't say anything about the affair being given in honor of your birthday. If you inform your guests that it is your birthday, or in any way intimate any such thing, you might just as well add: "Don't forget to bring a gift." It always suggests that. If your guests happen to know it is your birthday, all very well, but if they do not, refrain from telling them yourself.

Dear Miss Smart: I am a young girl and would like to have you answer a question for me. When being introduced to someone, what else can be said besides, "I am pleased to meet you," or "I am glad to know you?" TRIXIE

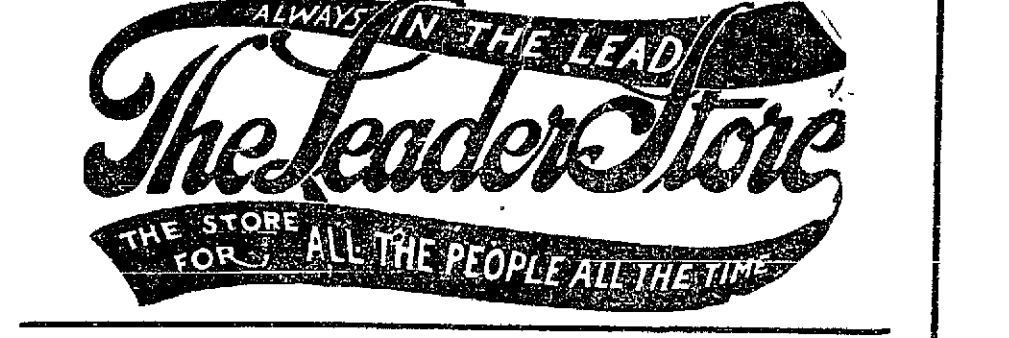

A number of persons have tried to discover some solution for this problem, "Trixie." It does seem quite a dreadful thing for us to continue to say we are very glad that we are very pleased to meet such and such a person, when we are not really certain that we are. Very often, as our acquaintanceship with certain persons progresses, we sometimes wish that we never had met them. Why not simply make a courteous bow and resort to the traditional, "How do you do?"

NUMBER DOUBLED AT INSTITUTE

Second Day of Teacher's Session
Sees Big Increase

The second day of the Allen-Go Teacher's Institute opened Tuesday with a big increase in attendance over the first day. From 70 the registered number of teachers attending the sessions increased to 134. This is as large a number as attended the sessions last year.

"The Problem of Written Work" was Prof. M. A. Leiper's subject. Tuesday morning, Prof. Leiper told the teachers of the many difficulties encountered in written work in English and showed them how to correct them.

Tuesday afternoon Prof. Leiper lectured on "Some Observations on School Management." This lecture dealt with incidents he had seen and contained some valuable ideas for the teachers.

Dean H. C. Minnich presented his two lectures Tuesday. His subjects were "Dramatic Possibilities" and "Creative Thinking." Dr. Minnich is an expert on school administration and his lectures present new plans to the teachers.

Wednesday Dr. Minnich will conclude his first series of lectures at the morning. The last of this series is "Special Methods-Spelling." In the afternoon he will begin his second series of five lectures, with a talk on "Behavior."

Prof. Leiper will lecture on "The Spelling Problem" and "The Teaching of English Grammar" Wednesday. All of Prof. Leiper's lectures are to show ways of improving the teaching of the English language.

TOWNS BOMBARDED. ATHENS.—Reports that Greek troops engaged in the offensive against the Turkish Nationalists in Asia Minor have suffered a reverse are denied in an official statement issued here. It is declared, however, that the battle along the Sakaria River is continuing with violence. Towns along the southern coast of the Black sea have been bombarded by Greek warships, the statement says.

AUTO DRIVER DRUNK; FINED, IMPRISONED; LICENSE IS REVOKED

William Jervens, 604 Atlantic-ave., a groceryman, will "hoof it" for the next 60 days. That is, he will, when he gets out of jail. When tried before Judge Emmett Jackson Tuesday for driving a car while intoxicated, the court fined him $25, added a sentence of 10 days in jail and took his auto license away for 60 days.

"Were you drunk when driving this car?" asked the court.

"Well Judge, I wasn't exactly drunk, so I didn't know nothing," admitted Jervens, "but I had a pretty good load on."

"You won't drive for some time," said Judge Jackson, in announcing his decision, "and you'd better go off this booze. It will kill you."

Jervens was arrested at Kibby and Pine-sts by Officers Keller and James, Monday night.

Efficiency of the members of Company G, 148th Infantry, is highly commended by Colonel G. E. Light, commanding officer, in a letter to Mayor F. A. Burkhardt.

Colonel Light, in praising the work of the Lima "doughboys," says in part:

"During the recent training period of the 148th, the various organizations in the regiment were brought under my personal observation. I feel that Company G, is a splendid body of young men and one in which the citizens of Lima should take great pride."

The interest with which the Lima boys went at the task of learning to be soldiers is praised.

"I want the citizens of your city," states Colonel Light, "to know how these boys conducted themselves and impressed others."

SUGAR CANDY. Roll without stirring, 2 cups of white sugar and 1-3 cup of vinegar. When it becomes crisp in cold water remove from the fire. Stir in the desired flavor and pour out on a buttered platter. When sufficiently cool to handle, pull it with a straight stroke. Do not twist. This makes a white, light candy.

SCOPE OF THE SERIES

It Will Supply That News Most Eagerly Awaited Today

During this vitally important tour Mr. Spillane will present absolutely accurate pictures of business conditions in every section of America, and probably in the most important centers of Canada.

His investigations will embrace Manufacturing, Agriculture, Finance, Transportation and Merchandising.

He will discover what economies and what changes have been wrought in each of these regional districts by the drastic upheaval which America has recently undergone.

He will study Labor, the Housing Problem, Hydro-Electric Developments, Road Building and Shipping Prospects (coastwise and international)—in fact, every condition which in the major sense now affects America's business prosperity.

He will ascertain whether some of our foremost business observers are correct in their belief that the turning point in the tide of business has now been reached—whether, from drastic liquidation, business is now starting upward.

This information will be of the utmost importance not only to America, but to the world at large—for America is the axis upon which the business world revolves, industrially, financially and sentimentally.

Mr. Spillane's letters will present that news which every reader—buyer or seller, producer or consumer, employer or employee, husband or wife, rich man or poor man—most eagerly awaits today.

RICHARD SPILLANE

Mr. Spillane, for three years Editor of the Business Section of the PUBLIC LEDGER, has a wider personal acquaintance with industrial leaders, bankers, shipping men, railroad men, large merchants and labor leaders than probably any other newspaper man living.

For years he has gone where big men meet and where big things happen. And captains of industry gladly talk to him because they know that the facts and ideas entrusted to him will be accurately and forcefully presented in a style so clear that the public at large will read and understand them.

Of the eleven men chosen to represent the great departments of endeavor in the Foreign Trade Council of the United States Mr. Spillane was selected as the spokesman for the American press. He is also vice president and associate editor of the international publication, "Commerce and Finance."

Before his appointment, as Editor of the PUBLIC LEDGER'S Business Section he for two years contributed business editorials to 345 daily newspapers with an aggregate circulation of 4,800,000; and for five years he wrote for twenty-eight of the leading Sunday newspapers of America a continuous series of full-page articles entitled "Romances of the Business World."

He knows America thoroughly. For eight years he traveled as a practical railroader. He has been also an active business man. Some of the largest banking interests of America have employed him as an expert analyst of industrial and railroad properties.

BATTLE FOR CELLAR POSITION

KIWANIS AND ELKS CLASH TODAY IN DECIDING GAME

The championship of the Business Men's League was settled some time ago when the roaring Lions walked away with the bunting, but the cellar position is still in doubt. It will not remain so, however, for the Kiwanis and Elks will battle out this point at the Murphy-st ball lot Tuesday afternoon.

Each team has won one game. The contest Tuesday decides. It is expected that both aggregations will put forth their strongest line-ups in an effort to prevent being forced into the dismal depths of the bottom position.

The game last week was top-sided. The Kiwanians had little trouble winning with their new pitcher, but that is no indication that they will be able to repeat this week. It would indeed be difficult to do the game Tuesday afternoon.

With Huffman in good condition, he should make the anticipated triple step live, to win if he is given support in the field and at bat. On the other hand, Coon may be in rare form and when he is he is a puzzle to the best of 'em. His team has more or less a record for swatting and it is not impossible for them to swing out a game in quick order any time.

The line-ups are expected to be about the same as last week. The game is called for 3:30 and a larger crowd than has witnessed the other games is expected. The cellar contest has been far less attractive than was that of the leaders, the Lions and Elks.

WATCHING THE SCOREBOARD

YESTERDAY'S HERO—By Myers doubled in the ninth with two down and scored when Cooper dropped a throw to first on Schmidt, the Robins beating the Pirates 1 to 0.

"Irish" Meusel hit a single, double and a triple, scoring two runs and knocked in two, the Giants beating the Cubs 8 to 7. It was seven straight for the Giants and it brought the Pirates within a game and a half of them.

The Braves lost their seventh straight game when the Reds doubled 10 to 4. Bressler hit two doubles and a single for the Morantes. League have been selected to form the all-star team.

The two following games will be

DOWNEY AND WILSON IN HARD WORK

NEW YORK.—Johnny Wilson of Boston and Bryan Downey, of Cleveland who on next Monday will try to settle arguments as to which is the middleweight champion, are training hard by slugging their sparring partners.

Wilson has no superstition about using the camp of Georges Carpentier, who was defeated in the same Jersey City arena in which the Wilson-Downey fight will be held.

Johnny even uses the same sand bag which Georges banged about. Yesterday he divided six fast rounds between Paddy Flynn and Ned Flanagan.

Downey boxed six rounds with Johnny Papke and Johnny Carr, at a local gymnasium. In his training bouts he wears leather headgear and a football nose guard.

Miss America Leads In Race For Trophy

DETROIT — Deciding heats in four events made up today's program of the Gold cup-Harmsworth trophy regatta here.

In the Gold cup event, Miss America, I, by virtue of her victory in the first two heats, had 24 points on the race, while Miss Chicago, which has taken two second places, had 22 and the Sea Sled Orlo 111, that made its first appearance in the classic yesterday, stood third in points with nine.

"Car" Wood, defeating the Gold cup with Miss America I, also had two heats to his credit with Baby Gar in the Wood-Fisher race for displacement speed boats. Miss Chicago had a comfortable lead in points in the Detroit trophy event for single engine hydroplanes.

The other event on today's card was the Sallan trophy for cabin cruisers.

RANTAMS MEET

CLEVELAND.—Carl Tremaine and Jack Wolfe, Cleveland, bantamweights meet here tonight in a twelve round decision bout. The boys agreed to weigh 119 pounds at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Teams Are Bunched In Race For Honors In American

NEW YORK — A one and a half games margin separates both the Pittsburgh National and Cleveland American teams from their respective New York rivals. While the Indians and Yankees were resting yesterday, the Giants crept up a full step on the Pirates.

YANKS ENTER GOLF TOURNEY

ST. LOUIS, Mo. — Reports received here from T. J. McMahon, New York City, secretary of the United States Golf Association, announce new entries to the 1921 amateur championship, which is to be held at the St. Louis Country Club, September 17-24. In the list of names are those of a few American players whose entry was considered doubtful and of one or two stars whose entries have not been linked in title affairs for several seasons, notably Jerome Travers of New York and H. Chandler Egan of Portland, Ore.

The international flavor will be supplemented by W. J. Hunter, British amateur and champion, who arrived at New York from England Sunday; Thomas Armour, former Scottish champion and Raymond Swift of England. It is also expected the leading Canadian golfers will compete.

HORSE IS SOLD
VAN WERT — Tokay, a running horse which won the mile heat in a sensational manner at the Celina fair, has been purchased by C. W. Stuckey of Grover Hill. Altho Tokay sprained a leg in the race, he won out. Stuckey was the owner of Waterwar, the animal that broke a leg in the Celina track event.

Jeannett Rankin Is Favored In Big Race

READVILLE, Mass.—The $5,000 Massachusetts 2:11 trot featured the second day's racing program of the Grand Circuit meeting here today. The four year old Jeannett Rankin, with McDonald driving, was favored to win over a field that included E. Colorado, Betty Taylor, Escott, Lockspur, King Harvester, Mainline, North Spur and Tandria.

Other races were the $3,000 P. grim 2:10 pace, Boston Herald $3,000 two year old trot and a 2:07 trot for $1,000 purse.

An attempt to break the track record for geldings was arranged for Peter Manning, 2:00 1-4. World's champion five year old trotting gelding, in an exhibition race. The record is 2:03 1-2 made by Uhlan in 1909.

Get This Lenz That 58 Motor Car Builders Use

Warning—Get this legal lenz before the State Lighting Law goes into effect September 15

PATTERSON LENZ is used as standard equipment on more cars than all other lenses combined. Automobile manufacturers and engineers for years have made a special study of the lighting problem. They have made every conceivable test with all kinds of lenses. These experts not only require legal lenses, but the best road illumination.

The almost unanimous choice of Patterson Lenz is your best guide and guarantee. It affords you the best proof of which lens is superior.

PATTERSON-LENZ

Lawful in Ohio and Everywhere

This Packard Engineer Says:

"So far as I know, the single six lamp equipments successfully meet the exacting requirements of the many varied lighting ordinances and laws that are in force at the present time throughout the country. I consider that this lamp equipment is practically ideal as it gives sufficient illumination for safe driving at any reasonable speed on country roads without in any way interfering with the drivers of passing vehicles, and it is therefore unnecessary to dim the lights when meeting other machines.

"J. G. VINCENT,

"Vice-Pres. Packard Motor Car Co., Detroit."

Are Your Head Lights in Focus? FREE

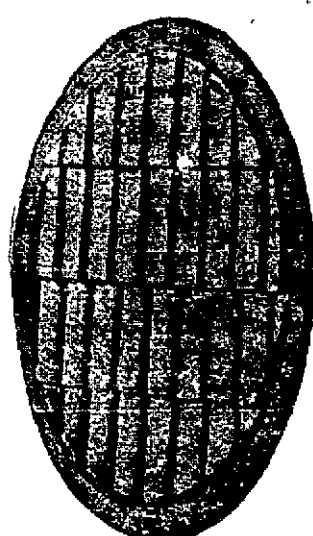

Get our free focusing device. You may be wasting a large part of the power of your lamp because they are not properly adjusted. Head lights get out of focus just like air jets out of tires. You use a tire gauge to find out how much air pressure you have. Send four cents mailing charge or ask a dealer for our "free focusing device." With it you can quickly and easily adjust headlights.

It is one thing to stop light and waste it in order to comply with the Ohio law, but you want lenses that are not only legal, but give the best road illumination.

Profit by the experience of the 58 motor car builders and do not be inconvenienced or endangered by poor or inefficient driving light in order to be legal.

Insist upon the Lenz with the Prime Patterson on it. These lenses give you a flood of light evenly distributed clear across the road, at the proper height, for more than 500 feet ahead.

Don't delay and expose yourself to arrest and a fine. Insist upon having the PATTERSON-LENZ from your dealer. No other is "just as good." Made in all sizes—$2.00 to $4.00.

Camels are made for Men who Think for Themselves

Such folks know real quality—and DEMAND it.

They prefer Camels because Camels give them the smoothest, mellowest smoke they can buy—because they love the mild, rich flavor of choicest tobaccos, perfectly blended—and because Camels leave NO CIGARETTE AFTERTASTE.

Like every man who does his own thinking, you want fine tobacco in your cigarettes. You'll find it in Camels.

And, mind you, no flashy package just for show. No extra wrappers! No costly frills! These things don't improve the smoke any more than premiums or coupons.

But QUALITY! Listen! That's CAMELS!

POLA NEGRI "ARABIAN NIGHT" STAR

PAULINE FREDERICK IN DOUBLE ROLE IN "SALVAGE"—FILM TALK

"One Arabian Night" will be quite a baby to the 1921-1922 silversheet sex what "Pasha" and "Gypsy" were to the 1920-1921 season. It is a different Pola Negri you gaze upon: a wild, whirling, nymph of the desert for whom men go mad; in turn, self-loving with the ferocity of sandstorms that were her playmates and her go-fishes.

She is in this picture more beautiful than DuBarry, more artful than "Carmen"—a composite expression of both and yet suggesting neither. It promises to be her greatest role.

"One Arabian Night" is the work of Ernst Lubitsch, maker of "Passion" and "Gypsy Blood"—a dream of Arabian Nights magnificence and romance, having all the fidelity of detail and atmosphere for which his productions are noted.

STAR IS FINE, THO THE STORY ISN'T SO GOOD

As far as the story is concerned, it seems to me that "Salvage" is the most satisfactory in Pauline Frederick has been upon to play for many moons, so melodramatic and incoherent. But Pauline, who plays a double role, is splendid. You congratulate the picture that it has her.

all this time, but he is pardoned and comes home to find his child in the care of an ideal woman. Ridgeway obligingly dies and leaves everything to his wife, (he had learned that she was not dead) which makes it so nice for Mr. Martin who will marry Mrs. Ridgeway, yes?

Then the mystery surrounding the disappearance of the child is cleared up and the family is happy once more.

Miss Frederick in her widely different roles, that of the good woman with the mother instinct, and the dissolute and abandoned dope-fiend gives a wonderful interpretation of both roles. Really, at times it is hard to believe that the same woman is playing both parts.

Ralph Lewis and Milton Sills are the leading masculine players and do admirable work. And the baby's cute.

"Salvage" is appearing today and until Thursday at the Lyric theatre.

RUTHLESS ART WILL DESTROY DOUG'S NEW AND BECOMING LIP ADORNMENT

Here is a snapshot of Doug Fairbanks taken during the filming of his newest picture, "The Three Musketeers." Doug had to have a mustache for the part of D'Artagnan and instead of depending on a false one and non-skid glue he grew his own. It is really quite becoming to him and it seems a shame that he must shave it off right away for his next picture. He will make "The Virginian" next and so his carefully cultivated and most becoming lip adornment must be sacrificed for art just as it was grown for the same purpose.

At present Fairbanks is in San Francisco with Mary Pickford Fairbanks and her company. The exterior for "Little Lord Fauntleroy" are being taken there.

Fairbanks told us that he plans to go to New York for the opening of the latter part of August of the Lyric theatre of the "The Three Musketeers," and it may be that Miss Pickford will give the natives an added treat by going with him for this event, that is, if she has finished "Fauntleroy."

MUST BE LONESOME Helene Chadwick is the only woman in the cast of "The Sin Flood," which Goldwyn is putting into production. This is the screen adaptation of Henning Berger's drama "Syndikaten" presented in New York by Arthur Hopkins several seasons ago as "The Deluge."

SYLVIA'S BEEN BUSY Sylvia Breamer, who is playing in Alice Duer Miller's original photoplay for Goldwyn, "The Man With Two Mothers," appeared as leading woman to Will Rogers in his two latest Goldwyn pictures, "Doubling for Romeo," and "A Poor Relation."

TO FILM "SILAS MARNER" If you love your George Eliot and have had real enjoyment out of "Silas Marner," "Middlemarch," "The Mill on the Floss," and other stories, you will be glad to hear Frank Donovan is going to bring "Silas Marner" to the screen. This will be the first of twelve specials he purposes making. It will be the second time "Silas Marner" has been filmed.

POLLY'S NEXT Pauline Frederick's next picture for Robertson-Cole will be "The Lure of Jade," from the story by Marian Orth. Collin Campbell will direct.

TO BE FEATURED Edwin Kimball, father of Clara Kimball Young, is being featured in a film by Harry Garson. He has frequently played in support of his daughter and is a former stock actor.

ON ITS WAY Myrtle Reed's noted story, "The Sign of the Jack of Lantern," is to be picturized. Lloyd Ingraham, who scored success as the director of "Lavender and Old Lace" (also by Mrs. Reed), has been engaged to direct. He has just returned from an extensive trip thruout the Pacific northwest.

NOTES FROM STUDIOS Victor Fleming will direct Agnes Ayres in her first starring picture.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mustache

Richard Wayne will be leading man for Eileen Percy in "Whatever She Wants."

HEUM PRESENTS "UNCLE TOM'S CABIN"

WILLIAM H. KIBBLE'S mammoth revival of the great and everlasting masterpiece, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," which is the most complete and expressive picture declared to run almost the entire gamut of movie possibilities, is "The Sky" which is the feature attraction of the formal opening of the next Thursday.

John Bowers and David Buray in it. It's a drama of reality in the Rockies and of its biggest thrills is the tale of over four thousand cast.

"The Sky Pilot" is a First National production. It comes to the Regent Thursday for a three day run.

THE FAUROT—Ferguson is starred in Arnold It's "Sacred and Profane" which terminates its engagement today at the Faurot Opera House.

THE SIGMA—The European-made with Matheson Lang in the role, is the feature attraction today at the Sigma Theatre. Lyman H. Howe's "A Ride On a Runaway Train."

THE MAJESTIC—Robert Warwick, heads the cast in "Tree of Knowledge" appearing today and Wednesday at the Majestic.

sive "Uncle Tom's Cabin" on the road today. Each character has been carefully chosen, and a number of negroes are included in the cast, giving the old plantation songs and dances.

The engagement of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" is for today only, matinee and night.

AT THE RIALTO—"Home" Comes Home" with Charlie Ray in the star role, is appearing today at the Rialto theatre.

The cast of "Sisters" includes Seena Owen, Matt Moore, Gladys Leslie and Joe King.

"The Ne'er to Return Road," a one-act play written for the Lamb's Gambol several years ago by Mrs. Otis Skinner, is to be produced in two reels by Selig-Rork.

Frank Mayo's fall releases include "The Shark Master," "Flying Fists," "Doctor Jim," "The Slippery Tongue," "Wards of the North" and "The Altar Stairs."

New honors are coming to Charlie Chaplin. A commemorative tablet is to be placed on the house in Fontainebleau where he was born—announces First National.

Bernard McConville will write the continuity for a Fox production of "The Count of Monte Cristo."

And do you remember the tenor who blathered ballads while pretty slides were projected on the screen?

FARM DRAINAGE

When well done with everlasting clay tile, is a permanent investment every year, wet or dry, winter and summer. It pays dividends in surer crops and bigger crops. It pays dividends in the satisfaction of having land easily tilled, in the satisfaction of being able to cultivate early, late, and soon after rains. It pays dividends in preventing washing of soil in summer and winter—killing of plants in winter. It pays dividends in saving machinery and power of man and beast.

Tile drainage, when well done, is a permanent improvement to more money best spent. It's the first step in real farming.

Prices of tile and booklets on tile drainage sent on request.

SHORT SHAVINGS

Smith was telling me that he and his wife were not on speaking terms. I expressed my surprise, for I had always thought them the happiest and most affectionate of pairs, and asked him what had caused the trouble.

"Well, you see," said Smith, "I wrote her a letter the other day that started out like this, 'I take my typewriter in hand to write you a few lines,' and my wife thought I meant the girl instead of the machine."

"I'm waiting for my wife," said the bold, bad man to an attractive young woman he met in a department store.

"Yes?"

"Are you shopping?"

"No."

"Have you any particular place to go just now?"

"No."

"Couldn't we—or—become better acquainted?"

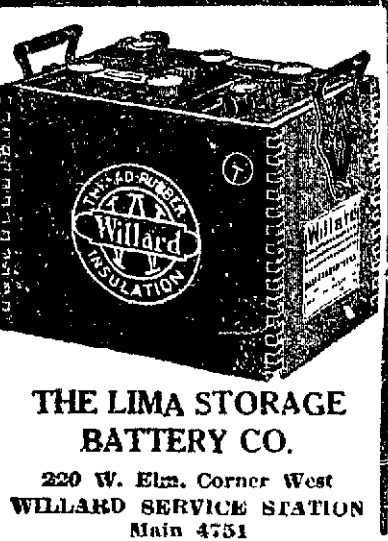

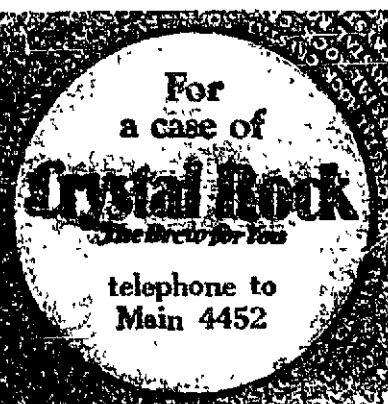

"We could, but I don't think it will be necessary if you behave yourself. I'm the store detective."

One day early last spring the manager of a baseball team lined up his men and said: "All you fellows who have been in vaudeville during the winter step forward."

"Now boys," he said to them, "I want you to bear in mind one thing. You are on the diamond, not on the stage now, so when you make a hit and the audience applauds it, don't stop to howl on your way to first base."
